Preface

This book's copyright has expired and is now in the "public domain". It was made available to the public by a web site but in a less convenient method of access. I have compiled the book into a single PDF file for Woodworth researchers.

While a very good book for what it covers, the title of the book is misleading. Many have looked at the book and thought perhaps it was too complex to find their line from Walter. Rather than being a book about the descendants of Walter Woodworth of Scituate, born about 1610, the book is the genealogy of the descendants of James Woodworth Sr, born 1733 in Lebanon, CT, a fourth generation descendant of Walter, born about 1610. The book does minimally identify James's ancestry by showing James's siblings and father Benjamin, Jr, Benjamin Jr's siblings and father Benjamin, and Benjamin's siblings and father Walter but, other than 4th generation James's line, their descendants are not covered by the book.

Some data has been found incorrect or has been supplemented by later researchers. No effort has been made to correct any typographical errors in the book. For more accurate information, I recommend Jeanette Woodworth Behan's book "The Woodworth Family of America, Descendants of Walter Woodworth of 1630 Through Six Generations".

Explanation

Each individual is numbered in order of birth from 1 up, and to this number is prefixed the number of all his ancestors in order of each ancestor's birth. For instance Nathaniel's number: he is third child of Assail, therefore 3 is his number. Asahel is third child of Samuel so 3 is prefixed; Samuel is the sixth child of James so 6 is prefixed; James is the sixth child of Benjamin so 6 is again prefixed; Benjamin is the fourth child of Benjamin so 4 is prefixed and Benjamin is the third son of Walter so 3 is prefixed, making Nathaniel's number 3-4-6-6-3-3. These numbers show Nathaniel's number in order of his birth, his father, his grandfather, his great grandfather, and back to Walter, who came from Kent Co., England, 1635.

Nathaniel is the third child of the third child of the sixth child of the sixth child of the fourth child of the third child of Walter, who landed in Scituate, Mass., in 1635.

Walter Woodworth came from Kent Co., England, to Scituate, Mass., 1635. Was assigned the third lot on Kent St., which runs along the ocean front, at the corner of Meeting House Lane, and there he built a house. In that year he owned other land, a tract on the First Herring Brook not far below Stockbridge Mill, where afterwards stood the residence of the poet Samuel Woodworth, and another tract on Walnut Tree Hill, just west of the present Greenbush or South Scituate R. R. Station, which was in early times called Walter Woodworth's Hill, and in 1666 he became a purchaser of sixty acres at Weymouth. In 1640 Walter was assessed nine shillings for the public use, and March 2, 1641, freeman; and in June 4, 1645, he was appointed surveyor of highways in Scituate, and again in 1646 and 1656. His name appears frequently on the town records of Scituate as juror, etc. In 1654 he was a member of the First Church, which ordained Charles Chancy as their minister.

be equally divided between them which lyeth in Scituate. To Thomas Woodward, my son, one-third part of all my land at Seconet which I purchased. The other two-thirds to Benjamin and Isaac Woodward to be equally divided between them excepting 25 acres of which I do give to my son Joseph. Ten acres of which I do give to my daughter Martha of which two quantities of land are to be deducted out of the two-thirds of my land lying at Seconet given to my sons Benjamin and Isaac aforesaid. All the rest of my land at Seconet which is yet to be purchased I give unto my two sons Thomas and Joseph Woodward to be equally divided between them. I give to Benjamin my son, my dwelling house, barn and other out housing, with all my land both upland and marsh land; 20 acres of upland, six acres of marsh land, the commons and privileges thereunto belonging. Benjamin to pay seventy pounds unto my son Joseph and my six daughters, Sarah, Elizabeth, Mary, Martha, Mehitable and Abigail ten pounds apiece. Benjamin to allow my two daughters Mehitable and Abigail the lower room or parlor at the northeasterly end of my dwelling house for their use during the time that they live unmarried. I give and bequeath to my two daughters Mehitable and Abigail my feather bed with the furniture thereunto belonging and all the rest of my household goods I give unto my six daughters to be equally divided among them. The rest of my estate undisposed of by this my last will and testament I give and bequeath to all my children, debts and funeral expenses being first paid, to be equally divided amongst them, Benjamin sole executor. And my two sons, Joseph and Thomas Woodward, overseers. Hand and seal this 26th day of November, 1685.

Benjamin Woodworth appeared before the court and gave oath on inventory of estate of his late father Walter Woodworth deceased March z, 1685-6.

It will be seen that all through the will and signature it is Woodward but that Benjamin in oath of inventory spelled the name Woodworth. Part of this family kept the name of Woodward, and the others Woodworth,

This ancient name of Woodward is derived from the forest keepers, the Woodwards of the Hundred Rolls in the reign of Edward 1st.

The Arms used by the Woodward Family of Kent, England

Richard Woodward of Woodmarsh and his son William Woodward of Ashford, Kent Co., used the old arms and crest of the family in England.

ARMS: ar. a chew. Sa. betw. three grasshoppers Vert.

CREST: A demi Woodman couped at the knees. Vested gu, hair dishevelled or in his dexter hand a honeysuckle of the ppr., stalked and leaved Vert.

3-4-6-6 Samuel Woodworth, Sr., b May 16, 1772 at Lebanon, Conn., m Lovina Babcock. He d at Otsego, Ind. in 1846. She d at Otsego, Ind. 1844. Otsego is two miles southwest of Hamilton, Ind. Both buried in North Otsego Cemetery. She b Jan. 29, 1772. Lived in Utica, N. Y.; near Tunkhannock, Pa., and Windham, Pa. 1819 near Ketchumville, N. Y. where he owned a large farm (now called the Woodworth farm) and for a time at Centre Lisle, N. Y. with his son Asahel (3-4-6-6-3). Spring 1843 went with his wife to Otsego, Steuben Co., Ind. and lived with his son Barzilliel and his daughter Sally who m Levi Gates.

Lovina's mother's maiden name was Janes and came from Pittsfield, Mass. She married Wm. Babcock against her parents' wishes --(a run-away match) and her parents never forgave her. It is supposed they located in East Haddam, Conn. where Lovina was born and later m Samuel Woodworth (3-4-6-6) and located for a time at Hebron, Conn. where Samuel (3-4-6-6-2) and Asahel (3-4-6-6-3) were born. The Samuel Woodworth bible is in possession of Elizabeth Dolly, Hamilton, Steuben Co., Ind.

Lovina's (Lovina (Babcock) Woodworth) grandchild Nancy Adelia Lobdell (3-4-6-6-3-6) writing, says:--"I do not know where grandfather and grandmother went, but I remember very well the morning they started from Centre Lisle, N. Y. Brother Niles (3-4-6-6-3-i) carried them and what goods they wished to take, in a lumber wagon to Ithaca, N. Y. where they went on a boat of some kind across Cayuga Lake, then by canal as far as it would take them on their journey. It was in the month of May and I think in 1843. I well remember what grandmother said, as father (Asahel 3-4-6-3) helped her in and tucked the blanket around her. She grasped his hand and said: `Farewell till we meet at the judgment, I have buried my five boys. I shall never see them again,' the tears running down her cheeks and father and Niles and all of us crying too. She did not want to go I think. She died that summer."

Cabinet maker by trade. He was very industrious, working day and long into the night at his trade as cabinet maker and undertaker. He worked many nights making coffins, as in those days they were not kept in stock, and were made only as needed, so he was compelled at times, like Adam Bede, to work all night long; truly not a pleasant night's work.

He was universally respected by all who knew him, -"an honest man, the noblest work of God." In his younger days he was straight as an Indian. As age advanced he became somewhat bowed, but enjoyed very good health, never being confined to his bed except in his last sickness.

LETTER OF SAMUEL WOODWORTH, SR. (3-4-6-6) TO BENJAMIN WOODWORTH (3-4-6-7).

Woods Hole August 5-1819

Dear Brother I received your letter in my and have night writing in till now every body you would think to know my sister and her the Gage's need me some I have been I have indicated by sister Anne that say some party told that they tried to ruin me every way but it is a positive falsehood but sir I will give you the statement of their friendship as they call it instead their helping me it was on the morn I had to help them I lent them money to get grain with after I came into the Country when he came to their little one that he would help me to any thing that I wanted and I sold off many things in their that I might brought but thinking that I would get plenty after I got here they promised to let me have a barrel of pork but when I was here they could spare none they would not even let me have a pig when they had a dozen and to sell to the trader without the thanks to father I have hunted a mill ever since I came here and got a label hanging but I am here without a friend in stead of their being a friend to me they reported all kind of things about my family but their tongue is no stone following what has been to will you mentioned about them you hold against my life I do not wish to have anything to do with them I hold accounts against Raymond and James is a man and I had to prosecute them both and you said he mean to appeal it but I believe he has not I would be more than for to collect it than worth here for I do not wish to have any thing to do with the Gage's they are like a parcel of dogs you know you touch on which since I came to buy the old folk around the time that Paper was here perhaps he heard of his party about burning one boy that he had paid them ~~and~~ and fall stating a line of honey and bees and they had a trial and it cost Raymond $25 and 2 months imprisonment and the rest no longer than the whole cost them about $200

Descendants of Walter Woodworth of Scituate, Massachusetts

I think that I shall have the part of the note and go about 200 miles from here where Daniel lives in the County Called the Holland purchase Daniel has gone out there about four weeks ago he left his and I want you to help me if possible as soon as you can I am in a posture of health at present
My family are all well and send their love to you and your family
I am
Samuel Woodworth Benjamin Woodworth

25 you mentioned that there was a boat 50 dollars due on that note of paper and your name paper he paid his part of the note and my name has paid 17 dollars and got a receipt on paper like six I expect the amount to be a mistake that note you may send up ~~the~~ and I will give them to a lawyer for collection you will not get the money any they never pay a note in that way only to the end of your and if you send them up soon I will do that for you award or to the Gorge and then I shall close my letter Your friendship has been the business has not been to my house to make a visit since I lived in the County sister has not been here since February I should like it if you could see her as I am here at my father's I will write a few lines to let you know my situation and Mitchell and Nancy &c. &c. six perhaps you heard of my being married If you have not I will let you know a little of the circumstances since I was married to my wife by the name of Mary like Daniel is not the same Mary lives at a place called Burgis in York State and she has three children
I am now down a visit to my wife's father Dear Uncle I hope you will excuse me for making my self so late as to writing a few lines Mitchell and my father to come to Burgis on the village of the name Cortland County or New York where we intend to live

Perhaps I could let you know how the Gorge used me Mitchell and myself sold Summers and Ambrose Gorge a boat 50 dollars with tools and we took sister Sumner's Gorge for the note and Summers got out shingles to pay the note and sent down by rail on a raft and when Ambrose got the money he went to Mitchell's at that time let Summers have the money and we had to

I have nothing further important to write giving words your family and so on. Mary sends her love to you and all the rest of the family although a stranger and so I conclude by sending myself your affectionate, respectful Abel Woodworth.

Mother sends her love to you and all wishing you things Grandmother in particular.

Nathaniel B. Woodworth.

Elijah B. Woodworth.

Margaret B. Woodworth.

These three names, with Abel above, his father Samuel's signature in same letter, also Samuel's father's other signature at end of deed give ... the handwriting of six generations of Woodworths in direct line.

Rosander F. Lobule enlisted at Lisle, Broome Co., New York, the 25th day of April, 1861. The company that he joined was organized at Binghamton, N. Y. with Peter Jay, captain. The company was ordered to Elmira, N. Y. and made a part of the 27th regiment, and was Company F, N. Y. Infantry, H. W. Slocum of Syracuse, colonel. Mr. Cobden was in the first battle of Bull Run. July 21, 1861. It was his regiment that broke the Rebel line near the Stone house and it is said, had the brigade supported them, the history of that battle would have been a victory for the Union Army. His company was the last to leave the field in good order. Col. Slocum was wounded and taken to Washington, D. C. and later was made a general and his (Mr. Lobule's) company assigned to his brigade. In the spring of 1862 he went to Yorktown, Va. with McClellan; was in the second Bull Run battle; in the battle of West Point, Va., and the seven days battle before Richmond; the Maryland campaign, and the battles of South Mountain and Antietam.

His second enlistment was Company E, 50th regiment, N. Y. Engineers. He was an artificer and assigned to the 6th corps. The regiment had charge of the pontoon bridges of the army;

also the fortifications of the army. He went through the Grant campaign from the wilderness to the Appomattox to the surrender of Gen. Lee; went with Sheridan to North Carolina to head off Johnson who surrendered to Sherman before they reached him; marched back to Washington, D. C.; was reviewed by President Johnson and discharged at Fort Barry, Va., June 15, 1865.

LETTER FROM SAMUEL WOODWORTH (3-4-6-6) TO ASAHEL WOOD-WORTH (3-4-6-6-3).

W. Woods Scituate Nov. 2. 1848

After so long an absence I now seize the opportunity of writing a few lines to you and the rest of my children and friends to inform you of my health which is tolerable good at present and hope these few lines will find you and yours enjoying the same blessing as would inform you that we did not receive a letter from any of you until late in October and then it was too late in the season for any of you to come after us and so I suffered writing until now we received a letter from Simeon three weeks ago & as they were all as well as usual we received a letter from Jays since from Benjamin and was glad to hear that you were all well he wrote that you had made some arrangements to come after me if I was able to come back and I have come to the conclusion that you may come as soon as it is convenient for you to come unless that you should have from me to the contrary I would inform you that Levi & Sally and their family are all well and I wish to be remembered by you Barnabie and Matilda and their four sons well and so are George & Simeon & family if it is a general time of health here it presumably have had hard winters here for two winters although there has not been very great depth of snow not more than 10 or 12 inches at any one time as you may wish to know what my opinion is respecting the country here I think that the country is a good country enough and that the crops will prosper well for all. I think

Rosander F. Lobule enlisted at Lisle, Broome Co., New York, the 25th day of April, 1861. The company that he joined was organized at Binghamton, N. Y. with Peter Jay, captain. The company was ordered to Elmira, N. Y. and made a part of the 27th regiment, and was Company F, N. Y. Infantry, H. W. Slocum of Syracuse, colonel. Mr. Cobden was in the first battle of Bull Run. July 21, 1861. It was his regiment that broke the Rebel line near the Stone house and it is said, had the brigade supported them, the history of that battle would have been a victory for the Union Army. His company was the last to leave the field in good order. Col. Slocum was wounded and taken to Washington, D. C. and later was made a general and his (Mr. Lobule's) company assigned to his brigade. In the spring of 1862 he went to Yorktown, Va. with McClellan; was in the second Bull Run battle; in the battle of West Point, Va., and the seven days battle before Richmond; the Maryland campaign, and the battles of South Mountain and Antietam.

His second enlistment was Company E, 50th regiment, N. Y. Engineers. He was an artificer and assigned to the 6th corps. The regiment had charge of the pontoon bridges of the army;

Cut of deed, in this book, from his father James (with Ensign James Woodworth's signature to deed) to him. Benjamin visited his brother Samuel (3-4-6-6) at Centre Lisle, N. Y., and N. B. Woodworth (3-4-6-6-3-3) now living (1901) remembers seeing him.

It was from this home deeded that Ensign James went to the Revolutionary war and it is with pride that his descendants in Conn. point to the field from whence he hurriedly started to the aid of Fort Griswold near New London, Sept. 6, 1781. Benedict Arnold commanded the attack. It was a terrible slaughter. No quarter was given. Only 26 escaped from the Fort. New London was laid in ashes. Col Ledyard of the Fort and 60 soldiers were mercilessly killed. The traitor Arnold retired when the militia began to assemble.

The Old Oaken Bucket

How dear to this heart are the scenes of my childhood,
When fond recollection presents them to view.
The orchard, the meadow, the deep tangled wildwood,
And every loved spot which my infancy knew;
The wide spreading pond and the mill that stood near it,
The bridge and the rock where the cataract fell;
The cot of my father, the dairy house nigh it,
And e'en the rude bucket which hung in the well.
The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket
The moss covered bucket which hung in the well.

The moss covered vessel, I hail as a treasure;
For often at noon, when returned from the field,
I found it the source of an exquisite pleasure,
The purest and sweetest that nature can yield.
How ardent I seized it, with hands that were glowing
And quick to the white pebbled bottom it fell;
Then soon with the emblem of truth overflowing,
And dripping with coolness, it rose from the well.
The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket,
The moss covered bucket, arose from the well.

How sweet from the green mossy brim to receive it,
As poised on the curb it inclined to my lips;
Not a full blushing goblet could tempt me to leave it,
Though filled with nectar that Jupiter sips.
And now, far removed from the loved situation,
The tears of regret will intrusively swell,
As fancy reverts to my father's plantation,
And sighs for the bucket which hung in the well;
The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket,
The moss covered bucket, which hung in the well.

He wrote other poems which Scribner & Co., of New York published in book form.

He and N. P. Willis published the "New York Mirror." His old home at Scituate, Mass., is in possession of the Northey family, a short distance from the R. R. station. It is said the old oaken bucket, having been displaced by more modern improvements, went into the hands of Rev. Daniel Wright of South Scitvate, Mass., who died in South Natick, Mass.

Francis Chandler Woodworth, descendant Isaac (8) b at Colchester, Conn., wrote
"The Snow Bird's Song."

The ground was all covered with snow one day
And two little sisters were busy at play,
When a snow bird was sitting close by on a tree,
And merrily singing his chick-a-dee-dee.
Chick-a-dee-dee, chick- a-dee-dee,
And merrily singing his chick-a-dee-dee, etc.

Edward Hyde b 1608, d 1694, 1st Earl of Clarendon, had a daughter Anne who in Sept. 1660 m James, duke of York, afterward made James II of England. Anne and James II had two daughters, Mary and Anne. Mary m William III of England. Anne the second girl became Queen of England. It is said that William Hyde who came from England 1663 to Norwich, Conn., descended from Edward Hyde b 1608 William had a son Samuel b May 1637 at Norwich, Conn.; Samuel, b 1637, had a son Samuel, b 1667, Samuel, b 1667, had a son Capt. Daniel, b Aug. 16, 1694, at Windham, Conn.; Capt. Daniel, b 1694, had a son, Bazalel; Bazalel had a daughter Mehitable who m James Woodworth.

This Genealogy, also Hyde Genealogy shows that James Woodworth (3-4-6) married Mehitable Hyde referred to above.

It may interest some to know that Mehitable (9) daughter of Walter of Scituate, Mass., was unfortunate as to her health. She was afflicted with some nervous disorder which in those superstitious days was synonymous with being "possessed with the devil;" in other words she was under the influence of witchcraft and Mary Ingham was charged with being the witch. On Mar. 6, 1676 she was indicted in the following language:

Mary Ingham, thou art indicted by the name of Mary Ingham of the town of Scituate, in the Jurisdiction of New Plymouth, for that, thou, having not the fear of God before throe eyes, bast by the help of the devil in a witchcraft or sorcery, maliciously procured much hurt, mischief and pains unto the body of Mehitabel Woodworth, the daughter of Walter Woodworth of Scituate, aforesaid, and some others; particularly causing her, the said Mehitabel to fall into violent fits, and causing great pains unto several parts of her body, at several times so as she, the said Mehitabel Woodworth hath almost been bereft of her senses and hath greatly languished to her much suffering thereby, and the procuring of great grief, sorrow and charge to her parents-all which thou hast procured and done against the law of God and to His great dishonor, and contrary to our Sovereign Lord the King, His Crown and dignity.

Mary was tried and acquitted and thus an end was put to the nonsense of witchcraft in the town of Scituate.

"Among the prisoners taken by the Tories who two years before had returned from Canada for their families, and who had most unaccountably been suffered to depart unmolested, was a very brave fellow by the name of Solomon Woodworth. He was entrusted to a party of Indians acting in concert with the Tories on their arrival at the Sacondaga, from whom he effected his escape on the following day. These Indians it appeared, mortified at his successful flight had resolved, either upon his recapture or his destruction. Woodworth, in the winter or spring of 1780, was occupying, alone, a block house situated about eight miles north of Johnstown. While thus solitary, his castle was attacked in the dead of night by a small party of Indians, who set fire to it. Regardless of danger, however, he ran out amidst a shower of bullets, extinguished the fire, and retreated within the walls again before the Indians, who had withdrawn some distance from the block house could re-approach sufficiently near to seize him. As the night was not very dark, Woodworth saw a group of the savages through the port holes, upon whom he fired not without effect, one of their number as it subsequently appeared, being severely wounded. This disaster caused the Indians to retire. But Woodworth was not satisfied. Collecting half a dozen kindred spirits, the next morning, he gave chase to the intruders and, after following their trail three days, overtook them--they having halted to dress the wound of their companion. The pursuers came so suddenly upon them, as to succeed in ties, patching the whole number without allowing them time to offer resistance. The little band returned to Johnstown in triumph; and their leader was immediately commissioned a lieutenant in a regiment of nine months men, in which service he had again an Opportunity of showing his prowess, as will be seen hereafter. He was commissioned a captain, for the purpose of raising a company of rangers to traverse the wooded country north of Fort Dayton, and the German Flats. He succeeded in enlisting a company of forty brave and kindred spirits; at the head Of whom, well armed and provided, he marched from Fort Dayton, striking in the direction of the Royal Grand for purposes of observation. After a few hours march, one of Woodworth's men, being a short distance in advance, discovered an Indian, evidently in ambuscade, upon whom he immediately fired. Instantly the forest resounded with the war-whoop, and Woodworth with his little band was surrounded by double his own number. A furious and bloody engagement followed, in which the Rangers and Indians fought hand to hand with great desperation; and for the numbers engaged there was cruel slaughter. A fiercer engagement probably did not occur during the war. Woodworth fell dead. The savages were victors; and of the Rangers only fifteen escaped to tell the melancholy fate of their comrades. Several were taken captives and subsequently exchanged.

Descendants of James Woodworth, (3-4-6) and his grand father Benjamin,- (3-4) are entitled to membership in Society of Colonial Wars and Sons or Daughters of the Revolution. Benjamin (3) and Benjamin (3-4) were in King Philips war and James (3-4-6) in the Revolutionary War. Bodge's "King Philip's War" describes Benjamin (3) of Scituate, Mass. and Benjamin (3-4) of Lebanon, Conn., as serving in the Colonial wars.

The photographs in this book show the signatures of six generations-all the generations, (except the two Benjamins) back to Walter who landed in Scituate, Mass. in 1635.

Chauncy C. Woodworth, the Rochester, NT. Y. perfumer, Artimus B. Woodworth, of Lowell, Mass.; his brothers E. B. Woodworth and Albert B. Woodworth, the extensive wholesale grocers of Concord, N. H. are descendants of Ebenezer (3-6).

William Woodworth is the inventor of the Woodworth Cylinder Planing Machine.

The Old Woodworth Homestead at Centre Lisle A Scene of Mirth

The following verses were read at a gathering of the Woodworth family at Centre Lisle, Broome Co., N. Y., on Saturday, Dec. 25, 1897.

The Old Homestead

Mrs. Rosander F. Lobdell
(nee Nancy Adelia Woodworth), (3-q-6-6-3-6).

Standing back from the village street,
Where the hill-tops slope to the west;
Is the home of our childhood so dear to our heart,
In its Christmas garlands drest.
For seventy years the drifting snows,
Have covered its roof-tree o'er,
And the blossoms of seventy summers, have shed
Their perfume about the door.
In bygone years its grey old walls
Re-echoed to children's tread,
And voices in laughter and song were joined,
As the happy moments sped.
The well known paths around it were trod
By hurrying, busy feet,
And all things wore the rainbow tints
Of youth, and hope so sweet.
The passing years, their changes brought,
To the old house under the hill;
The youths and maidens drifting out,
Their place in the world to fill.
One fair young bud, just unfolded here
Then wandered back to heaven,
To blossom in wondrous beauty there.
He taketh what He has given.
The father's eye grew dim with age.
And his hair was snowy white,
But his love for his children was just the same.
It knew no change or blight.
And when on the gladsome Christmas time
His children gathered home,
With welcoming hand and joyful tears,
He greeted every one.
He was the first the river to cross,
Yet his work was all well done;
He left the cross at the Saviour's feet,
And the glorious crown was won.
Our mother; heaven her memory bless.
Time gently touched her brow,
Her eye was undim'd and the sheen of her hair
Was lightly sprinkled with snow.

For more than three score years and ten
The days of life were told.
And then she was not, for God took her home;
She was no longer old.
"Perhaps in that miracle country,
They will give her lost youth back,
And the flowers of a vanished Spring time
Shall bloom in the spirit's track;
One draught of the living waters
Shall restore her youthful prime,
And the eternal years shall measure
The love that outlives time."
The years passed on; the dear old home
Was deserted and left forlorn.
Brambles choked the blossoming flowers,
Grass grew in the paths well worn-
The old house looked with mute appeal
To all who passed it by,
Its broken window, its sunken roof,
Ever bringing a tear to the eye.
But what is this that greets our view
On this glad Christmas morn
As we turn toward the well known spot
Not the old house, deserted, forlorn?
A beautiful building, fair to see,
In fashion like the old,
Has, like the fabled Phoenix bird,
Sprung from its ashes cold.
Now who has found Aladdin's lamp
And wrought this wondrous change,
And placed upon the old hearthstone
This structure new and strange?
A grandson in his eastern home,
Down by the sounding sea, Beheld the havoc time had made
And turned the magic key.
