*The copyright to this book expired in about 1978. Since the copyright has expired, I have scanned and digitized the book which follow, and placed it on the Woodworth web site as a service to Woodworth genealogy researchers. HOWEVER, THIS BOOK SHOULD BE USED WITH CAUTION AS A DATA SOURCE, AS SOME SOURCES USED BY WILLIAM ATWATER WOODWORTH HAVE SINCE PROVEN TO BE IN ERROR, CAUSING ERRONEOUS DATA TO BE ENTERED IN HIS BOOK.

William Atwater Woodworth's (or WAW's) book is both humorous, witty, and factual, and is a true pleasure to read. Of special interest to me are the letters from WAW's correspondents in the 1800s. Some of these letters purport to record old family legends that reveal the "true facts" of the origins of Woodworths in America, and yet these letters conflict with one another.

Some of the data in this book can be damaging to one's genealogy records if used. WAW did not have the benefit of Walter's will when he wrote his book, nor could he have been aware that a vital record in Little Compton, Rhode Island concerning a "Walter, Jr" and family has proven to be in error. Also, a Reverend Samuel Dean's book, on whom WAW relied, had erroneous data concerning the alleged early death of Walter's son Benjamin in King Philips War. Instead, Benjamin lived to an old age and was the executor of Walter's will.

So, enjoy this book. But just be cautious about using the data. Keep in mind that all of the material in this book has been extracted and placed in Jeanette Behan's book, and corrected where WAW's sources have been found to be incorrect. See Jeanette (Woodworth) Behan's "The Woodworth Family of America, Descendants of Walter Woodworth of 1630 Through Six Generations", published in 1988.

ADDENDA.

Since the "Descendants of Walter Woodworth" was printed, Mr. Frank E. Woodward, of Malden, Mass., has unearthed the last Will of Walter Woodward, of Scituate, coming upon it quite by accident among the records of deeds in Plymouth County, Mass. It is a very important discovery, and it is unfortunate that it did not come to light in time to adjust the Woodworth Genealogy in conformity with it. The following is the Will and inventory:

Will of Walter Woodward.

In the name of God, Amen. I, Walter Woodward, of Scituate, in the jurisdiction of New Plymouth in New England, in America, being weak in body, but of sound and perfect memory, praise to Almighty God for the same, do make this my last will and testament in manner as followeth:

First, and most principally, I commend my soul into the hands of Almighty God, my creator, in and through Jesus Christ, my only Saviour and Redeemer, and my body unto decent and burial at the discretion of my executors with the advice of the rest of my sons hereafter named.

And my temporal estate I dispose of as hereafter followeth:

Imprimis. I give and bequeath unto Thomas Woodward, my eldest son, a parcel of upland containing acres, lying in Scituate aforesaid, bounded by the lands of Henry Ewell on the south and the Common on the north, to be enjoyed to him and his heirs forever.

Item: I give unto my two sons, Thomas and Joseph, acres of Marsh land, to be equally divided between them, which lyeth by Suzons--bounded by the Marsh of Anthony Collimer on the east, by the Marsh of Thomas Clap, deceased, on the north, in Scituate aforesaid to be enjoyed to them and their heirs forever.

Item: I give to Thomas Woodward, my son, one-third part of all my land at Seconet, which I purchased. The other two-thirds I give unto my two sons, Benjamin and Isaac Woodward, to be equally divided between them, to be enjoyed to them and their heirs forever, excepting twenty-five acres, of which I do give unto my son Joseph, to be enjoyed to him and his heirs forever. Ten acres of which I do give unto my daughter, Martha, to her, her heirs forever, of which two quantities of land is to be deducted out of the two-thirds of my land lying at Seconet given to my two sons, Benjamin and Isaac aforesaid. All the rest of my land at Seconet, which is yet to be purchased, I give unto my two sons, Thomas and Joseph Woodward, to be divided equally between them, to be enjoyed to them and their heirs forever.

Item: I give to Benjamin, my son aforesaid, my dwelling-house with my barns and other outhousing, with all my land, both upland and marshland thereunto belonging, that is to say, twenty acres of upland, be it more or less, bounded by land of John Turner to the west and by land of Joseph Otis to the east, and six acres of marshland more or less bounded by the land of Joseph Otis to the northeast, and by the first herring brook towards the south--all of which said housings and land with all the appurtenances thereof, the commons and privileges thereunto belonging I give to the said Benjamin, my son, his heirs forever, always provided upon condition that my son, Benjamin, aforesaid, do pay and allow the sum of seventy pounds unto my son, Joseph, and my six daughters, Sarah, Elizabeth, Mary, Martha, Mehitabel and Abigail, ten pounds apiece, to be paid to them at three payments, viz., one-third part of the said seventy pounds to be paid to my said children within three years after my decease and the other two-thirds to be paid in the two following years, that is to say--in each year a third of the said sum of seventy pounds, and each payment to be paid, the one-half in silver and the other half to be paid in corn; and (cattell?). Further, my will is that my son Benjamin, aforesaid, do allow my two daughters, Mehitabel and Abigail, the lower room or parlor at the northeasterly end of my dwelling house aforesaid, for their use during the time they do live unmarried.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my said two daughters, Mehitabel and Abigail, my feather bed with the furniture thereunto belonging, and all the rest of my household goods I give unto my six daughters, Sarah, Elizabeth, Mary, Martha, Mehitabel and Abigail, to be divided equally among them. The rest of my estate undisposed of by this my last will and testament, I give and bequeath to all my children, all my debts, funeral expenses being first paid, to be equally divided amongst them.

Item: I do constitute and appoint my son, Benjamin, aforesaid, the sole executor of this my last will and testament, whom I do appoint to pay all my debts and legacies and I do appoint my two sons, Thomas and Joseph Woodward, overseers of this last will and testament.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the twenty six day of November, 1685.

Benjamin Woodward appeared before the Court and gave oath that the above-written is a true inventory of his late father, Walter Woodworth, deceased, so far as he knows, and when more comes to his knowledge, he is to bring it to this inventory by virtue of the oath in Court, March 2d, 1685-6.

(Attest)

NATH'L CLARKE, Sect'y.

It will be observed that the name is spelled Woodward, except in the oath of Benjamin, where it is spelled Woodworth. The transition from one name to the other seems to have been remarkably easy in those early days.

This Will makes necessary an entire reconstruction of the numbering of this genealogy. *From the will it appears that Thomas and not Benjamin was the oldest son and should therefore be No. 1 instead of No. 3. The relative standing of the other sons cannot be determined from the will. As to the daughters, however, it may safely be inferred that they are mentioned in the will in the order of their age, especially as they are named twice in the same order. The dates of birth of Mary and Elizabeth are given in the Scituate records; Mary born March 10th, 1650; Mehitable, Aug. 15, 1662. The dates of marriage of Thomas, Benjamin, Joseph and Martha are also found in the town records. Assuming then that they were then at least twenty-one years of age, we are enabled to construct the family of Walter as follows:

- 1 Thomas, born about 1636, married about 1666.
- 2 Benjamin, born about 1638, married about 1659.
- 3 (Walter, born about 1645, married about 1669.)
- 4 Joseph, born about 1648, married about 1669.
 - Mary, born March 10, 1650, married Dec. 24, 1677.
 - Martha, born about 16756, married June, 1679.
- 5 Isaac, born about 1659, married about 1686.
 - Mehitable, born Aug. 15, 1662.
 - Abigail, born about 1664, married (Dec. 24, 1695).

An important point to be noticed is, that the will makes no mention of a son Walter. The inference should not, however, be hastily drawn that he had no such son. The Little Compton records mention a Walter, who has been assumed to be the son of Walter, Sr., although it is no where so stated in direct terms, except by Dean, in his history of Scituate. According to the Little Compton town records, Walter was born 1645, married 1669, and had children, Joseph, born 1670, etc., as stated on page 15. The records of the United Congregational Church, of Little Compton, mention Walter born 1669, Joseph or Walter baptized 1672, Benjamin, 1674 and Isaac, 1676. It is quite evident from the failure to mention the day and month of births and marriages, that these entries in the town records were not contemporaneous with the events, but were made at a later date at the request, perhaps, of some descendant, who had only an indefinite general impression of the facts. The dates of death are more specific, and very likely the entry of births was then first made. These entries are therefore not entitled to the implicit confidence which would otherwise be accorded to them. There are also other circumstances which have tended to throw a doubt upon the reliability of these records. For instance, it is stated that Walter's child Hezekiah was born 1672; Catherine, 1673, and Benjamin, 1674. Such a rapid fecundity is, to say the least, very improbable. Then again, some of the children mentioned may easily be accounted for by giving them to other known sons of Walter. Joseph, born 1670, bap. 1672, married 1694, may be son of Joseph 4, who was born March, 1670, and married 1694 (p. 64). Hezekiah, born 1672, may be the son of Thomas 3, born 1670 (p. 53). Catherine, born 1673, may be the daughter of Thomas 3, born Oct. 5th, 1673 (P. 53). Benjamin, born 1674, may be the son of Joseph 4, born Aug., 1676 (p. 64). Isaac, born 1676, may be the son of Walter, Sr. (p. 75), who must, however, have been born as early as 1660. Elizabeth, born 1678, may be the daughter of Joseph, born 1680 (p. 64); but Thomas, born 1680, is not so easily accounted for.

Thomas (p. 53) was married about 1711 and had five children born at Little Compton and the dates of their birth are specifically given in the Little Compton records. No other Thomas can be found in Little Compton or Scituate, to whom this family can be assigned.

These palpable errors and suspicious coincidences, however, do not seem to be sufficient reason for entirely ignoring both the town and church records. They are still entitled to some degree of credit; indeed, the correspondence of these independent records of the town and the church is strong proof of their general reliability. The fact that Walter, Sr., does not mention any son Walter in his will is not conclusive proof that he had no such son. He does not mention his wife, but it is nevertheless true that he had a wife who was the mother of his sons. She was undoubtedly dead at the time Walter made his will in 1685. So the failure to mention his son Walter may be accounted for on the hypothesis that he also was dead at that time. This supposition is not contradicted by any of the Little Compton records, where Walter last appeared in 1680, when his son Thomas was born. There is, however, this statement in the Plymouth Colony records: "Recorded and admitted as Freeman at ye General Court, held at Plymouth on the first Tuesday of June, 1689, Joseph Woodworth and Walter Woodworth of Scituate," according to which there was a Walter in Scituate four years after the death of Walter, Sr.

There is, however, a serious difficulty about Benjamin, whom I have made son of Walter, Jr. (23), which I am not able satisfactorily to dispose of. It does seem certain, however, that I have erred in making him the Benjamin mentioned on page 18, who settled in Lebanon in 1703. Benjamin, of Lebanon, died 1728, leaving a will dated Jan. 21, 1726, in which he mentions fourteen children, all of whom, except possibly Ezekiel and Caleb, were then unmarried. The last of them, Amos, was born in 1773. If they were all 21 years of age at the time of their marriage, then Amos was born in 1702 and the others prior to that; putting the births of the 12 children two years apart, we must run back to 1678 as the latest date of the father Benjamin's marriage. It is clear then that this could not be the Benjamin, son of Walter, Jr., who was born about 1674.

The newly discovered will of Walter, Sr., makes it quite probable that Benjamin, of Lebanon, was the son of Walter, Sr. By this will Walter, Sr., devises to Benjamin and Isaac a one-third interest of his lands at Seconet or Little Compton, after deducting 35 acres for Joseph and Martha in the deed of lands at Lebanon to Benj. In 1703, he is described as "Benjamin Woodworth, of Little Compton, R. I. Moses, son of Isaac, after his father's death in 1714, conveys to Benjamin "of Lebanon" 5 acres at Little Compton, being one-third part of a lot of 15 acres, originally Walter Woodworth's." These circumstances are straws indicating the identity of Walter's son Benjamin with Benjamin of Lebanon. There is this difficulty, however, which is a very serious one. Dean says-. "Benjamin was a soldier in King Philip's war and lost his life. Lands were assigned for his services to Charles Stockbridge for the use of Benjamin Woodworth's family in 1676." There are so many errors in Dean's History that this statement might be disregarded, except for the fact that it is corroborated by the town records of Scituate (book 5, p. 206), where it appears that on July 21st, 1676, Charles Stockbridge was appointed to receive lands for the family of Benjamin Woodworth, killed in King Philip's war, and at a later date a deed was executed by the town to Benjamin's son Robert. The will of Walter, however, by which, in 1685, nineteen years after King Philip's War was ended, he devises land to his son Benjamin, and the oath of Benjamin, in 1786, to the inventory of his father's estate, effectually dispose of this difficulty.

But again, Dean further says, "he" (Benjamin), "had daughters Elizabeth, Deborah, Abigail (wife of John Jackson, of Plymouth, 1695) and a son Robert, who settled in the west part of the town, east of Symonds 11111, where Dominick Bowker now resides. His children were "Ruth, born 1685," etc., as appears in the Scituate records compiled on page 8 of this genealogy. None of these children, except Deborah and Elizabeth, are mentioned in the will of Benjamin of Lebanon. This difficulty might be avoided in two ways - first, on the supposition that Abigail and Robert were dead at the time Benjamin made his will; or second, on the assumption that these children remained at Scituate instead of emigrating with the rest of the family to Little Compton and Lebanon, and that their father Benjamin had already amply provided for them, by settling upon them the Scituate property, which had come to him through his father's will.

Since writing the above, Mr. Frank E. Woodward has written me that he is satisfied that Benjamin had two wives, the first Deborah, by whom he had Elizabeth, Deborah and Mary. She died, and previous to Benjamin's selling out in Scituate in 1691, he had married Hannah, by whom he had the rest of his children. These statements are borne out by church records of the second parish of Scituate. Abigail was not the daughter of Benjamin at all, but of Walter, Sr. Dean has got matters very much twisted. Robert is unaccounted for either in the town or church records.

It must be confessed that these facts taken together are somewhat mystifying. It is noticeable, too, that, while the names and dates of birth of the children of Thomas and Joseph, who lived in Scituate, are recorded in full in Scituate records, and the names, etc., of the children of Walter, Jr., and Isaac are recorded In the Little Campton records, there is no mention in either of the children of Benjamin. Benjamin evidently lived in Scituate prior to his father's death, for his father gives him the homestead there and makes Benjamin his executor and Benjamin takes on himself the execution of the will there. Robert must have been born about 1660 to 1664; the others probably before Walter's death. Why is there no record of these births? Is it possible that there was another Benjamin, who was killed In King Philip's war and who was the father of Robert, Elizabeth, etc., but was not the son of Walter? If so, who was he, and where did he come from? Or shall we yet come into possession of facts which will reconcile all these apparent contradictions and inconsistencies

Descendants of Walter Woodworth, of Scituate, Mass.

The following record of the WOODWORTH family is very far from complete, and a large outlay of labor and money will be necessary before it can be made into anything like a finished genealogy. When the work of compiling this record was begun in 1876, the author was acquainted with only one family of the name of WOODWORTH except his own, and therefore supposed the task would be a light one. But no sooner was the search begun than the WOODWORTHS began to buzz about in countless swarms, and it soon appeared that the family was not so scarce as it was modest. The ramifications of the family were found to be so widely spread throughout the United States and Canada that it was impossible for anyone without abundant leisure to devote all his time to the work, to trace them all out. The author has given a large part of his leisure time for the last twenty years to the compiling of this record and although its incompleteness is evident, the facts that its records have been carefully verified and the author believes it to be accurate so far as it goes; and at the urgent request of many of the family he has concluded to publish it with the hope that at a future day a sufficient number of supplemental facts may be gathered to make a larger and more complete history possible.

The first mention of the name WOODWORTH in this country is found in the records of the town of Scituate, Mass. Scituate adjoins Plymouth on the north and was settled in 1628, eight years after the landing of the Pilgrims in the neighboring town, by "men of Kent," England. Among them was WALTER WOODWORTH, and there are reasons for the belief that he was the first WOODWORTH in the world. A search in the records of the County Kent, England, in 1628 and prior, fail to disclose the name. The name WOODWARD, however, is found there and it is possible, indeed quite probable, that WOODWARD was the original name and through some process of evolution became WOODWORTH. It is certain that many of WALTER'S descendants were called WOODWARD and hold that spelling

Caution: Be sure to read WAW's addenda and Marvin ("Woody") Woodworth's introduction.

to this day. MR. FRANK E. WOODWARD, of Malden, Mass., who has given much study to the WOODWARD branch of the family, is very firm in the belief that the original name was WOODWARD, which, as he puts it, became "corrupted" to WOODWORTH. It would have been more graceful at least if he had said "improved;" certainly even he cannot deny that the latter is a more "worth"y name. Wood-ward meant a keeper of the wood. In this new land where all woods were free, such a name was meaningless and smacked of feudalism and tyranny; hence WALTER, who had turned his back on all such things, very naturally wanted a change and adopted the name WOODWORTH, though some of his descendants seem to have backslided into the ways of royalty again and resumed the discarded name of WOODWARD.

There has been no discovery of a WOODWORTH in any of the early settlements of this country prior to WALTER of Scituate. Mr. W. G. Woodworth, a very old gentleman residing at Centerville, St. Joseph, Co., Mich., claims to have been descended from BENJAMIN WOODWORTH, who came from England with his brother William and settled in Salem, Mass., two years after the landing of the Pilgrims, and the tradition further goes that WALTER, their younger brother, came over with his wife some years later and settled in Scituate. No record, however, of any such WOODWORTHS can be found in Salem, although a large number of WOODWARDS appear on the town books. It may be that the "corruption" to WOODWORTH came later to the family of Benjamin of Salem, than to that of WALTER. This branch of the family, if such it is, will be only incidentally referred to in this narrative, as there is not yet sufficient data to identify it.

Mr. E. S. Woodworth, of Windham, O., (see 411418) gives us the following ingenious theory to account for the name WOODWORTH. He says that the original ancestor of the family was one Silas Wood, who, on his voyage from the old country to New York, fell in love with a fellow passenger, a young lady of the name of Worth. This lady was possessed with a settled determination never to change her name, but taking kindly to the addresses of Silas, she finally consented to marry him on condition that he would blend his name as well as his heart with hers. Silas was not slow to accept this condition, and the name WOOD-WORTH was the result. The story is certainly a very pretty one, and is entitled to be enrolled in the family mythology.

Another story altogether different and yet strangely enough emanating from a cousin of the above named E. S. Woodworth, the Hon. Laurin C. Woodworth, M. C., of Youngstown, O., (4114162), is, that the first ancestor was named WOODROFFE or WOODROUGH and came over in the Mayflower and our honorable kinsman corroborates his story by "pointing with pride" to a gimblet in his possession which this ancestor brought over with him. Unfortunately for this story there was no person of either of those names who ever came over in the Mayflower, unless he took passage as a stowaway.

The WOODWARD family in the United States is very numerous and comes from several distinct sources. The name is found in the earliest records of Boston, Salem, Watertown, Scituate, Taunton and elsewhere, indicating early settlers from the mother country. There was a HENRY WOODWARD, who came over in the ship "James," in 1635, and settled in Dorchester, whose name is frequently spelled in the early records, Woodworth, and he may have been a brother of WALTER WOODWORTH, of Scituate. He was the ancestor of a large family, some of whom afterward settled in Lebanon, Ct., where many of the descendants of Walter had made their home. And in the Lebanon records there appears, in 1710, the name HENRY WOODWORTH, who was undoubtedly a descendant of HENRY WOODWARD and a son of JOHN WOODWARD and Ann Dewey, born March 18, 1680, at Lebanon. In Scituate we find the names of the descendants of WALTER spelled variously WOODWORTH, WOODWARD, WOODARD, WOODART. Among an unlettered people devoted to agriculture and busy in their leisure hours defending themselves against the Indians little attention was paid to niceties of spelling and pronunciation so long as the identity of the individual was preserved. The name WOODWORTH is a little difficult to pronounce and it came much easier to say WOODRUFF or WOODARD or WOODWARD--we have all been through with that experience even in these later days--and thus there came at last a new spelling and the evolution of a new name and perhaps the complete obliteration of a family as WOODWORTHS. In like manner it is probable that many WOODWARDS have become WOODWORTHS; possibly, too, there has been a similar mixture with the WOOLWORTHS and WOODRUFFS. On this account a great deal of confusion has arisen and there has been great difficulty in making these researches to keep the families distinct.

The following record is confined almost exclusively to those families which have retained the name WOODWORTH and no special effort has been made to follow out the departures and deviations, although some such deviations are noted in cases where they were easily ascertained.

I am indebted for much valuable assistance in compiling this record to George W. Woodworth, of St. Louis; C. C. Woodworth, of Rochester; James S. Woodworth of Worcester, Mass., Frank E. Woodward of Malden, Mass., Dr. Beechin, of Boston, and Albert B. Woodworth, of Concord, N. H.

The method of numbering is simple. Each male is numbered in the order of his birth from 1 up, and to this number is prefixed the numbers of all his ancestors. The sons of WALTER the first are numbered from 1 to 5, and their sons are respectively numbered in the same manner, each with his father's number prefixed. For instance, WALTER'S son BENJAMIN is numbered 1, BENJAMIN'S son ROBERT is numbered 11, and the latter's sons are numbered respectively 11, 112, 113 and so one from generation to generation; so that it can be seen at a glance to which branch of WALTER'S family any name belongs. For instance, ZIBA 5323 is descended from ISAAC 5, from ISAAC'S third son DANIEL 53, from DANIEL'S second son BENJAMIN 532, while ZIBA himself is the third son of BENJAMIN and is therefore numbered 5323.

WALTER WOODWORTH probably came from Kent, England. There is no absolute proof of this statement, but it may be reasonably inferred from the well-authenticated fact, as stated in Dean's History of Scituate, that Scituate was settled by "men of Kent." The religious nature, which in a marked manner has characterized his descendants, may be accounted for by the probability that for ages the WOODWORTH family had breathed the religious atmosphere of Canterbury Cathedral, where perhaps an early ancestor had listened to the preaching of St. Augustine and received into fruitful soil the first seeds of Christianity, which in later years became disciplined and strengthened by the austerity of Thomas a Becket. It is a noticeable fact, however, that the great majority of WALTER'S descendants are Dissenters, and, among a considerable number of clergymen, none are Episcopalians.

It is not likely that our family "came over with William the Conqueror." We do not find the name enrolled among William's knights at Battel Abbey. The name as well as the physical and intellectual characteristics of the family are Saxon rather than Norman. But the origin of the family must, for the present at least, remain a matter of conjecture. Behind Scituate the veil of the Atlantic is drawn and our ancestry is lost in the mist of bygone ages.

To WALTER WOODWORTH in 1635 was assigned the third lot on Kent street, which runs along the ocean front, at the corner of Meeting-house lane, and there he built his house. In 1635 he appears to have owned other lands, a tract on the First Herring Brook not far below Stockbridge Mill, where afterward stood the residence of the poet, SAMUEL WOODWORTH, and another tract on Walnut Tree Hill just west of the present Greenbush or South Scituate R. R. Station, which was, in early times, called Walter Woodworth's Hill; and in 1666 he becomes the purchaser of 60 acres at Weymouth. In 1640 WALTER was assessed 9s "for the public use." March 2, 1641, he was admitted as a freeman and on June 4, 1645, he was appointed surveyor of highways in Scituate, and again in 1646 and 1656. His name appears frequently on the town records of Scituate as juror, witness and in the performance of other public duties. In 1654 he was a member of the First Church, which ordained Charles Chauncey as its minister. But his religion was not of the showy kind, although he enjoyed it as much as some of the more cantankerous Puritans. However meek he may have been in his general living, WALTER'S love of peace and goodwill to men had its limitations, for when his next door neighbor, Japhet Turner, in 1661 pulled down WALTER'S fence and obliterated his boundary lines, WALTER promptly sued him and obtained a verdict for £5 and costs. The moral effect of this verdict was healthy and stiffened up the backbones of his children, all of whom became successful and respected citizens. His daughter, Mehitabel, is mentioned as having been "unfortunate as to her health." She was afflicted with some nervous disorder, which in those superstitious days was synonymous with being "possessed with the devil;" in other words, she was under the influence of witchcraft and Mary Ingham was charged with being the witch. On March 6, 1676, she was indicted in the following language:

"Mary Ingham, thou art indicted by the name of Mary Ingham of the Town of Scituate, in the jurisdiction of New Plymouth, for that thou, having not the fear of God before thine eyes, hast by the help of the Devil in a witchcraft or sorcery, maliciously procured much hurt, mischief and pains unto the body of Mehitabel Woodworth, the daughter of WALTER WOODWORTH, of Scituate aforesaid, and some others; particular causing her, the said Mehitabel to fall into violent fits, and causing great pains unto several parts of her body at several times so as she, the said Mehitabel Woodworth hath almost been bereft of her senses and hath greatly languished to her much suffering thereby and the procuring of great grief, sorrow and charge to her parents--all which thou hast procured and done against the law of God and to His great dishonor, and contrary to our Sovereign Lord the King, His crown and dignity."

Mary was tried and acquitted and thus an end was put to the nonsense of witchcraft in the town of Scituate.

WALTER left no *will and there is no record as to the name of his wife, but the names of his children are found in the town records of Scituate:

Children of WALTER WOODWORTH--

- 1 Benjamin believed to be the oldest.
- 2 Walter, b 1645.
- 3 Thomas.
- 4 Joseph.
 - Mary, b Mar. 10, 1650, m Dec. 24, 1677, Aaron Symonds, of Greenfield.
 - Martha, m Lieut. Zachary Damon, June, 1679.
- 5 Isaac.
 - Elizabeth, unmarried.

WARNING: There was no Walter, Jr, and Benjamin lived to be the executor of Walter's will! See book by Jeanette (Woodworth) Behan. See also the preface to this book which makes corrections.

Mehitable, b Aug. 15, 1662.

- 1 BENJAMIN was a soldier in King Phillip's War, where he was killed, and, as a pension to his family, lands were assigned in 1676 to Charles Stockbridge, in trust for them. In the deed afterwards made of this land to Benjamin's son, Robert, the name is written WOODARD. His children were-- 1 Robert, b 1660.
 Elizabeth, m Oct. 1707, to Thomas Chittenden.
 Deborah.
 Abigail, m Dec. 24, 1695, to John Jackson, of Plymouth.
- 11 ROBERT, b 1660, at Scituate, married and settled in the western part of Scituate, east of Symond's Hill, where Diminick Bowker resided in 1831. Robert and his children have their names spelled in the town records invariably, WOODARD. His children were:
 Bertha, b Dec. 5, 1685; m Benjamin Tower May 6, 1718.
 James, b Jan. 25, 1687-8; d Feb. 17, 1694.

 Anna m Mr. Johnston.
 Ruth, m Mr. Randall, 1795.
- 11111 BENJAMIN, b 1750, m Abigail Bryant Nov. 14, 1778. Dean, in his history of Scituate, says this Benjamin was the son of JAMES 1131.

NOTE: DNA has shown that no Woodworth is genetically related to ANY Woodward or Woodard but he is clearly mistaken, as that Benjamin had no children and settled in Maine. His children born in Scituate were--

Abigail or Nabby, b Jan. 31, 1780, m Wm. Russell.

Anna, b Oct. 29, 1781, moved to Detroit in 1825.

1 Benjamin, b Dec. 29, 1782.

2 Samuel, b Jan. 13, 1784.

BENJAMIN married for his second wife, Betty, widow of Capt. Joseph Northey, of Scituate. He was a Revolutionary soldier and was in the Battle of Dorchester Heights in 1775. He died Aug. 5, 1830, at the old Northey place, half a mile south of the old Stockbridge Mill.

1111111 BENJAMIN, b Dec. 29, 1782, at Scituate, learned a carpenter's trade at Boston, and in 1804 went to Detroit, where he became enterprising, popular and prosperous. He ran the first stage coach in Michigan, built the first brick house in Detroit, and for many years kept the best hotel there. He served in Capt. Sibley's regiment in the war of 1812. In 1844 he lost a large amount of property by fire and then removed to St. Clair, Mich., where he lived in peace and quiet with his only surviving daughter, Frances, until Nov. 10, 1874, when he died at the age of 91. He was popularly known all over the State of Michigan as "Uncle Ben." He married Rachel Dicks, of Detroit. His children were--

Abigail, m Charles W. Ewing, Fort Wayne, Ind.

1 Samuel D.

Ann Maria, m Gen. S. B. Brown, St. Clair, Mich.

Frances Elizabeth, m A. J. Cummings, St. Clair, Mich.

Ruth, Louisa, Catherine, Mary, Catherine L., Benjamin, Henry and James all died young.

A daughter of Abigail, Mrs. L. A. Bond, living at Fort Wayne, to whom I am indebted for much valuable information respecting this branch of the family, writes: "I have reason to be proud of my ancestors; to be sure in the long run, poverty instead of wealth were theirs, but they were always possessed of honesty and nobleness of character, which are by far greater treasures than riches."

Frances Elizabeth, m Andrew J. Cummings, hotel keeper, St. Clair, Mich. They had five children, Fannie, Ida, Louisa, Mary, Lena.

1111111 SAMUEL D., m Lucinda Allen, and lived at Monroe, Mich. He was killed by a boiler explosion on the old steamer "Vance." He had one child--

1 Benjamin R.

1111111 Benjamin R., m Jennie Taylor, of Detroit. Served as Lieut. in the army during the Rebellion and died of consumption contracted there. He left one son--

1 Charles C. T.

- 111112 SAMUEL, b at Scituate, Jan. 13, 1784, m Lydia Reeder Sept. 23, 1810. Early in life he learned the printer's trade at Boston and devoted much of his time to writing verses. In 1809 he removed to New York and established a weekly newspaper. His literary taste brought him into contact with the noted authors of the time and in 1823, he, together with Geo. P. Morris and afterwards with N. P. Willis, began the publication of the "New York Mirror." He was the author of the famous poem, "The Old Oaken Bucket," the delightful freshness and rhythm of which makes it one of the cherished gems of our American literature:

THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET.

How dear to this heart are the scenes of my childhood,
 When fond recollection presents them to view.
 The orchard, the meadow, the deep tangled wildwood,
 And every loved spot which my infancy knew;
 The wide spreading pond and the mill that stood near it,
 The bridge and the rock where the cataract fell;
 The cot of my father, the dairy house nigh it,
 And e'en the rude bucket which hung in the well.
 The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket;
 The moss covered bucket which hung in the well.

That moss covered vessel, I hail as a treasure;
 For often at noon, when returned from the field,
 I found it the source of an exquisite pleasure,
 The purest and sweetest that nature can yield.
 How ardent I seized it, with hands that were glowing!
 And quick to the white pebbled bottom it fell;
 Then soon, with the emblem of truth overflowing,
 And dripping with coolness, it rose from the well.
 The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket,
 The moss covered bucket arose from the well.
 How sweet from the green mossy brim to receive it,
 As poised on the curb it inclined to my lips;
 Not a full blushing goblet could tempt me to leave it,
 Though filled with the nectar that Jupiter sips.

And now, far removed from the loved situation,
 The tear of regret will intrusively swell,
 As fancy reverts to my father's plantation,
 And sighs for the bucket which hung in the well;
 The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket,
 The moss covered bucket, which hung in the well.

He wrote also "The Hunters of Kentucky," "Zoological Jurisprudence," "Quarter Day, or the Horrors of the First of May," "Champions of Freedom; a History of Our Late War;" a number of songs and ballads; a drama, "The Forest Rose," and many other poems (which, some few years ago were republished by Scribner & Co.). He became one of the most popular poets of a day when New Yorkers delighted to exalt local names and native literature. He became much enfeebled during his later years in consequence of a paralytic stroke. His last poem, which was found among his papers after his death, but is not found among his published poems, was a quaint descriptive poem entitled "The House I Live In," which is especially interesting for the local history of New York City, which it records, rather than for its literary merits. The poem contains 27 verses of which the following will give an idea of the style:

"Our city then did not extend
 Beyond the Collect Brook,
 And one might, from its northern end,
 Upon the Battery look.
 Broad street was but a muddy creek
 And banks were very few.
 The Greenwich stage ran twice a week
 When this old house was new."

The last stanza of this poem gives an insight into the poet's heart:

"But though my sight be dull and dim,
 My Saviour's love was prized.
 In youth I placed my hopes in Him,
 And now they're realized.
 Yea, though He slay me, still I'll trust;
 His promises are true;
 Though this old house decay, He must Rebuild it good as new."

He died at his home in New York Dec. 9, 1842. His old home at Scituate is still in possession of the Northey family, about five minutes walk from the Greenbush Station. The old well is there, but the old oaken bucket has yielded to modern improvements; the bucket is reputed to have come into the possession of Rev. Daniel Wright, of South Scituate, who died in South Natick a few years ago.

SAMUEL'S children were:

- 1 Samuel Smith Haines,
Harriet Mansfield, d unmarried.
- 2 Selim Edward.
- 3 Frederick Augustine.
Georgianna Louisa.
Caroline Matilda.
Lydia Huntley.
- 4 Benjamin Russell.
Mary Josephine.
Maria Juliana.

1111121 SAMUEL S. HAINES, usually called Haines, which was the name of his mother's grandfather, married Orpha Reeder in 1839, at New York. He died in New York in 1844. Had 3 children--

- 1 William, d in California in 1868.
Julia, m John Conner, California, had 7 children.

1111122 SELIM E., b in New York Nov. 27, 1815. He was an adventurous youth and spent much of his time at sea. He embarked in 1834 on the ship Margaret Oakley and was wrecked off the coast of Madagascar. He was rescued by the natives and lived for some months among them, but eventually escaped and returned home. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1838 and in 1862 was promoted to be the Commander for gallant service under Farragut. He spent the latter part of his life at San Francisco, Cal., where he became very popular. He died Jan. 19, 1871. SELIM'S widow, ten months after her husband's death, married Erasmus Dennison, a young naval officer, ten years her junior, a son of Gov. Dennison, of Ohio. He committed suicide two years later, leaving his widow and one child now residing in San Francisco, Cal. Selim left 5 children--

- 1 Selim, in the navy.
- 2 Frederick, b 1858; entered the Naval Academy in 1872; stood second in his class of 120. Was suspended for hazing; and though afterwards restored, never returned, but went into business and resides with his aunt, Mrs. Withered, in Brooklyn.

- 1112 JOSEPH, b July 20, 1720, at Scituate, m Sarah Jones Oct. 7, 1743.
His children were--
- 1 Joseph, b June 14, 1746.
Sarah, b May 12, 1749.
Anna, b June 17, 1851.
 - 2 James, b June 17, 1754.
Hannah, b Sept. 6, 1757.
- I have found no other trace of the descendants of this family.
The above children were all born at Scituate.

- 112 ROBERT, b April 15, 1697, at Scituate, m Deborah Sylvester in March, 1719; I find no further trace of him.

- 113 JAMES, b Aug. 9, 1709, at Scituate, m Sarah Soper Dec. 6, 1731. His name is spelled WOODART, WOODWARD, WOODARD on the Scituate records. His children were--
- 1 James, b Sept. 17, 1732, d single.
Lydia, b Aug. 31, 1734, d single, 1815.
Sarah, b March 23, 1736, d young.
Bethia, b Jan. 23, 1737.

 - 2 Joseph, b June 6, 1744.
 - 3 John, b June 6, 1746.
Elizabeth, b 1748.
Sarah, wife of JAMES, d 1748, and JAMES m again Feb. 15, 1749,
Mary Stetson, widow of John Vinal, Jr.; she was a daughter of Anthony Stetson, and was born Dec. 9, 1717. Their children are--
 - 4 Samuel, b Oct. 9, 1750.
 - 5 William, b July 12, 1752.
 - 6 James, b Aug. 12, 1754.
 - 7 Elisha, b Sept. 27, 1756.
 - 8 Benjamin, b Oct. 7, 1758.
- Dean's history makes the James who married Mary Stetson to have been the son of JAMES 113. This is evidently a mistake, as the will of James, Sr., dated Sept. 2, 1755, and proved Nov, 16, 1753, mentions the name of his wife Mary, as well as the above-named children. He signs his name "James Woodart," and thencefor-ward this branch of the family seem to have adopted the name
"Woodard, now "Woodward."

- 1134 SAMUEL, b Oct. 9, 1750, at Scituate, removed to Bristol, Me.
- 1135 WILLIAM WOODARD, b July 12, 1752, at Scituate, m Mehitable Beal and removed to Bath, Me. Children--
 Rhoda, m Jan. 30, 1805, Wm. D. Whitmore.
 Rachel, m Bailey Jenkins, Scituate.
 Elizabeth, m Abel M. Donnell.
 1 William, m Hannah Sprague.
 2 Ezra, m Bethia Brown.
 The remainder of this branch of the family, which reverted to what was the original name, WOODWARD and corrupted to WOODARD, has been carefully studied out by Frank E. Woodward, of Malden, Mass., who has published the results of his researches in the Maine Historical and Genealogical Record.
- 2 WALTER, b 1645, at Scituate, m 1669, at Little Compton, R. I., (SEE NOTE) where he and others of the family bought lands. Dean says "Walter" (son of Walter. Sr.), left children--Mary, b 1658, Mehitable, b 1662, Ebenezer, b 1664." This is manifestly wrong, as it would make Walter to have married at the tender age of 12. Mary and Mehitable were probably the children of Walter, Sr. Who the Ebenezer spoken of by Dean was, I cannot say; he may have been a son of Walter, Sr., or he may have been a son of Thomas 3. The Little Compton records contain entries of Walter's birth and marriage as above, as well as the following minutes of the birth of the children--
 1 Joseph, b 1670, m 1694 (no further trace).
 2 Hezekiah, b 1672.
 Catherine, b 1673, m Thomas Davenport July 20, 1704, d June 1, 1729.
 3 Benjamin, b 1674.
 4 Isaac, b 1676.
 Elizabeth, b 1678, m Benjamin Southworth Dec. 18, 1701, d June 18, 1713; had 4 children.
 5 Thomas, b 1680.
- 22 HEZEKIAH, b 1672, at Little Compton, m Hannah Clapp Dec. 23, 1697, d Nov. 25, 1716. She d Dec. 10, 1734. The following children were born at Little Compton--
 1 Elisha, b Dec. 1, 1698.
 2 Elihue, b July 24, 1700.
 Naomi, b March 25, 1701, d May 23, 1765.
 Deborah, b Nov. 17, 1703, d Aug. 28, 1733.

NOTE: WALTER WOODWORTH allegedly born 1645 never existed. All Woodworth genealogists agree that Walter born 1645 never existed. The problem was faulty memory reconstruction of ancestry generations later.

Hannah, b March 19, 1706.

Mary, b March 4, 1709, d July 22, 1716.

I assume that HEZEKIAH was the son of Walter 2, though he may possibly have been the son of Thomas 3, born at Scituate 1671 and adopted into the family of Walter after the destruction of Thomas's house at Scituate--see HEZEKIAH 31.

- 221 ELISHA, b at Little Compton, R. I., Dec. 1, 1698, m first Jane Bailey, of Scituate, May 10, 1722. She was b 1701 and d Feb. 6, 1729. Second, Ann Clapp, May 17, 1730. Elisha d at Little Compton April 20, 1749.

- 23 BENJAMIN, b 1674, at Little Compton, R. I. In 1703 he bought for £250 from Philip Smith a large tract of land in Lebanon, Ct., where, or in the neighborhood of which, many of his friends and relatives from Old Scituate had settled. Benjamin moved to Lebanon soon after with his family; was admitted as an inhabitant Dec. 22, 1704, and died April 22, 1728. There are no records either at Lebanon or Little Compton of the births of his children, but in his will executed Jan. 21, 1726, and proved June 20, 1728, his children are mentioned in the following order:

1 Benjamin.

2 Ichabod.

3 Ebenezer, b March 12, 1691.

4 Amos.

5 Ezekiel.

6 Caleb.

Deborah, m Sprague.

Hannah, m Walter.

Ruth, m Caleb Fitch, April 4, 1747.

Judith, m Thomas Newcomb, 1720, moved to Salisbury, Ct.

Margaret, m Joshua Owen, Nov. 5, 1718.

Priscilla, m Amos Fuller, June 29, 1721.

BENJAMIN'S farm was situated in the northeast part of the town, and, on account of its remoteness from the church, we find in 1714 among the 24 signers of a petition for a new church, the names of Benjamin, Ezekiel, Benjamin, Jr., Ebenezer and Henry. Who Henry was I have been unable to learn, but the others are undoubtedly the children of BENJAMIN (23). In 1716 a new church was formed, called Lebanon North Parish or Lebanon Crank, and in 1804 this parish was cut off from Lebanon and made into the town of Columbia.

I also find the names of Ichabod, Ebenezer, Amos, Ezekiel and Ebenezer, Jr., mentioned in a rate bill for 1741 to pay the salary of Eleazur Wheelock, pastor, afterwards First President of Dartmouth College.

The farm of BENJAMIN is now in the possession of the Kingsley family, where it has been for four generations.

W. G. Kingsley, of Lebanon, Ct., who now resides on the old Benjamin Woodworth place at Lebanon, says:

"The will of Benjamin Woodworth, of Lebanon, which was executed Jan. 21st, 1726-27, contained legacies to his sons, Benjamin, Ichabod, Ebenezer, Amos, Ezekiel and Caleb, also to his daughters, Deborah Sprague, Hannah Waiter, Ruth Owen, Judith Newcomb, Margaret Owen and Priscilla Fuller. The property disposed of by this instrument covered his real and personal estate in Lebanon and also all his estate in the town of Seconet, in Mass. Bay, now Rhode Island. His son Benjamin was appointed executor. The will was proved June 20th, 1728, but by the record of our town he was in life until April 22d, 1729; therefore I think our record contains an error of at least a year concerning the time of the decease of Benjamin Woodworth."

- 231 BENJAMIN T. The exact date of his birth is unknown; he was probably the oldest child, as he is mentioned first on the list of children in his father's will of which he was appointed executor. He was born probably in R. I., perhaps in Seconet, where his father owned lands. He married Mary Weeks July 26, 1721, and died April 22, 1747, at Lebanon. Children--

GEORGE W. in 1881 resided in St. Louis and was connected with the "Puritan Gold and Silver Mining Co.," 223 Olive street. He now lives in California. I am greatly indebted to him for much valuable information regarding the family, which he has worked up at considerable expense and trouble. Jan. 1, 1881, he sent out a circular letter of which the following is a copy:

St. Louis, Mo., January 1st, 1881.

Dear Friend:

Thinking it might be a satisfaction to know what progress I have made in tracing the ancestry of the Woodworth family, can now say that after spending much time corresponding with parties in this country and England and considerable money for copies of records, etc., I find they came from the County of Kent, England, and I have obtained a perfect record of that branch of the family to which I belong back to WALTER WOODWORTH, who settled in Scituate, Mass., about the year 1635, and to whom I think each party receiving this circular letter can trace his or her ancestry.

Tradition says two brothers (Woodworths) came to this country at an early date, one settling in New England, the other in New York, which I think connect many of the name known to me whose ancestry is traceable to New York. It is a pleasure to say that from the many letters received I find the Woodworth family possessed of more than average intelligence, and many of the names of prominent professional and business men enjoying a high reputation.

With the compliments of the season and many thanks for the aid afforded by you, I remain

Yours truly,

GEORGE W. WOODWORTH.

Geo. W. does not agree with Frank E. Woodward, of Malden, Mass., who, as we have before seen, claims that the name of the original Walter, of Scituate, was a Woodward. One of his strongest reasons being the fact that Walter is in almost every instance referred to in the Scituate records as Walter Woodworth. He may have been a Woodward in the old country, but when he landed on American soil he surely was a Woodworth.

2322281 JOHN ELIHU, b May 10, 1849. He writes the following interesting letters:
Abstract of a letter from John E. Woodworth to George W. Woodworth, Esq.:

"The Woodworths came to Nova Scotia, at least to Kings County, from Lebanon, Ct., in 1760, and settled with others upon lands vacated by the deportation of the Acadians five years previously. The grant dated July 25th, 1761, of the township of Cornwallis, contains the names of five Woodworths, viz., Amasa, Benjamin, Thomas, William and Silas. The last was my great grandfather; he married Sarah, daughter of Richard and Mary English, of Lebanon, Ct. What relation the above-named five bore to each other I do not know. Their descendants are abundant in the township. I forward the names of some with whom I was acquainted who would be likely to be interested in your work, but the country is extensive and there are numbers of whom I know nothing.

"In reference to the first settlers and early inhabitants in America I think probably that John B. Newcomb, Esq., of Elgin (?), Kane County, Illinois, would be able to furnish you with much valuable information. He has compiled a geneological memoir of the Newcomb family (published in 1874), and from correspondence which I had with him while it was in course of preparation I know that he preserved all the information which he could obtain concerning "collateral" families. If he is still living (I have heard nothing from him for four years) I know he would be delighted to assist you if in his power."

Buckley's, Kings County, Nova Scotia, Jan. 20th, 1881.

Geo. W. Woodworth, Esq.

Dear Sir: Many thanks for your favor of Jan. 1st. I am gratified to learn that your efforts to trace our ancestry have resulted so satisfactorily. For my part I can only say that I think the family owe you a debt of gratitude, if nothing more. I supposed it was your intention to publish the result of your researches in a sort of historical Memoir of the family in America, but the tone of your letters does not confirm my suppositions. Something of the kind should be done and doubtless will before long.

In my former letter I think I gave the name of five Woodworths (from a list of the grantees of Cornwallis Township), who settled in Kings County about 1760. There was another, named Joseph, who came from Lebanon, Ct., and settled in Horton, Kings County. I knew his descendants, but I did not know the name of their ancestor when I wrote; supposed him to be one of the five named. Tradition says this Joseph was no relation to the others but was of Welsh descent. I doubt this although I fancy the family to be of Celtic extraction. My father's brother, Elias, was once accosted by a newly arrived British soldier, who was positive he had known him in Wales and that his name was Woodworth.

In reference to what you say about the New York Woodworths I may say that I think a branch of our family settled in that State. I have seen a letter, which I cannot find now, among my father's papers, dated Leyden, N. Y., 1820, signed Josiah Woodworth, and styling my father "Dear Cousin."

I am pleased to find that you have so high an opinion of the family; generally, so far as my acquaintance goes I believe that opinion to be well founded. Repeating my thanks for the great service you have rendered the family and for personal favors, I am

Very truly yours,
JOHN E. WOODWORTH.

His son, John, was born March, 1649, and married in 1673 Rebecca Robbins, b 1647; John d Nov. 3, 1732, and Rebecca d 1676.

John's son, Ebenezer, was b March 12, 1691, and m Dec. 27, 1717, Rebecca Smalley.

I am at a loss to know on what authority this pedigree is founded. I know of no WOODWORTH settling at Watertown. There was, however, a WOODWARD who came there from England, and is the ancestor of an entirely different family, some of whom did indeed settle in Lebanon, where they were known as WOODWARDS. But Ebenezer appears without any doubt by the consensus of the Lebanon records to have been the son of Benjamin Woodworth (23).

- 2331 EBENEZER, b Sept. 26, 1718, at Lebanon, m Hopestill Tryon Sept. 2, 1742. The first four of their children were born at Lebanon, the rest probably in New Hampshire, whither EBENEZER had moved about 1760. Children--

Woodworth, of Hebron, N. H., gives the following account of him: "He was a small hare-lipped man, very active in the church and exemplary in life. He was the first Town Clerk of Dorchester and he held that office for many years. In 1822 he moved with his children to Ashtabula Co., O. When he was ninety years old he was visited by one of his old friends from Dorchester, whom he entertained by felling a large tree in the woods, that the friend might report to his old neighbors what a sturdy man he still was. Rev. Horace Gideon writes thus gayly: "As you are aware, the Woodworths against the world for doing practical works. I do not now think of any earthly prestige worth the mention. Some of the family have been talked of for Congress, never, I believe, for the penitentiary. No doubt we are a marked sprig of the genus homo, and when honest men come in fashion, we shall make a tally. There is one curious thing--you may have noticed the same--all have the same voice. I can tell a Woodworth blindfolded or in the dark, if he will speak."

23312 SYLVANUS, b at Lebanon, Ct., Jan. 2, 1748, fought in the battle of Bunker Hill in Capt. Jas. Clarke's Co., of Connecticut. The position of this company was on the extreme left, extending towards Mystic River. They were behind breastworks made of hay between two rail fences. Sylvanus accompanied President Wheelock, the founder of Dartmouth College, who then had a school at Lebanon, on his first visit to Hanover, N. H., and in 1770 he erected the first building used by the college. He was one of the original proprietors of Dorchester, Grafton County, N. H., where he and his brother had bought a large tract of land. He was noted in that region as a bear hunter. He was a fine singer and taught a singing school during the long Winter evenings. In early life he was engaged to Tamesin Thorn, whom he devotedly loved, and whose early death he deeply mourned for many years prior to his marriage to Tamesin Nevins in 1792. He was possessed of a strong religious nature. His life was one of hardship not unmingled with adventure and romance. He died suddenly at night in the highway alone, on his way to his home, in 1797. Children--

- 1 George, b 1795.

233121 GEORGE, b 1795, at Dorchester, N. H., farmer, m Lois Hovey, b 1795. He was a school teacher in his younger days and an accomplished musician. "He was a man of many virtues, universally respected, contending frequently with adversity, but never compromising a character of unblemished integrity and conscientious adherence to correct principles. He was an officer of the church and for many years a justice of the peace." I annex the following from the widow of George:

Lynn, Mass., March 17, 1876.

With pleasure I comply with Mr. Woodworth's request and give such information as I am able. I think Sylvanus Woodworth's father's name was Sylvanus, of this I am not sure; but he married Tamesin Thorn as I have heard my husband's mother say, whose name was Tamesin Nevins before she married. S. W. came up to Hanover as a laborer in the company, when Dartmouth College was moved up from Connecticut by President Wheelock. After working there awhile he went to Dorchester, some twenty miles back from Connecticut River. He bought three hundred acres of land and moved up from Connecticut with four brothers; I know not which was oldest or youngest, but their names were John, Ebenezer, Jabez and Ezra. The two latter moved to Essex County in a few years, after which time I knew little of him. John was a small hare-lipped man, who was very active in the church and exemplary in life. He was an elegant writer and was Town Clerk for a good number of years, his writing being first in the records. He moved all his children to Ashtabula Co., Ohio, after he had advanced in years. I think he was ninety years or nearly that when one of his Dorchester neighbors called to see him. He asked him to go out in the woods when he felled a tree in his presence so the feat might be reported in his old neighborhood. Ebenezer died with spotted fever in Dorchester, but his widow and children accompanied uncle John, with ox carts, driving cows and journeying twenty miles per day and resting Sunday. John Woodworth married Sarah Ingraham of the family, who a few years ago sent an agent to England to prove their claim to the township of Leeds. I have not learned that it was a success.

Sylvanus Woodworth was in the Bunker Hill fight in Capt. Clark's company under Gen. Putnam. They made a forced march and got warm. When they came to water as many as drank while so heated, were immediately sick. Woodworth immersed his hands above the pulse in his wrists; bathed his temples and rinsed his mouth several times before he swallowed any; then drank a little at a time until he was satisfied with drink, and received no injury from it. He taught singing and was said to have a voice that charmed. Married at 53 years and died at 57 in December, 1796.

Very truly yours,
MRS. L. H. WOODWORTH.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Oliver Woodworth, of New London (56372) to Chauncey C. Woodworth, of Rochester, dated April 2d, 1875.

"The name of your ancestor Joshua, I do not remember to have ever heard mentioned by my parents or uncles, but it seems somewhat singular that my father went with his family to the same Coventry you speak of about 1808 and lived there nine years. I have a sister with me who was born in Coventry and moved from there in 1817 to Vermont, and who remembers many things about the place but no one of the same name. If any connection can be traced it must go back to my father's uncles, but he was very careful to speak of all cousins, and never having heard him mention one of that name leads me to suppose there is no connection that can be traced. We have no old family records and I have never been able to find and trace back beyond my grandfather Asa."

The following letter from Mr. C. C. Woodworth, of Rochester, to his father, dated April, 1881, is quoted at length: "Dear father: I left Springfield Friday morning at seven and changed cars at Palmer for So. Coventry. It is a very old-fashioned place, scattered over a mile or more along the valley with three or four stores in the front part of a residence. Several mills have been started there in the last fifteen or eighteen years which makes up the population; but as near as I can see, everybody that can, moves away to some more lively place. I found two of our branch of the family living there, but saw only one, Albert C. Woodworth. He is a cousin of yours. He has no written family records, but says that Joshua W. Woodworth, your grandfather, had four sons--Asa, Jesse, Spencer and Harry. He and his brother James are sons of Harry Woodworth, who died some years ago. Your father had two sisters, Lucy, who married a Lincoln, died some three years ago, but has a daughter living who is your cousin, and a sister who married John Eels, who was buried only last week. Asa, another brother of your father, had sons, Charles, Oliver, George, Augustus and Leonard. George and Augustus live in Stafford and Andover nearby; others are dead. There are two daughters of Asa, also--Laura and Maria. Of Oliver and his children he knew nothing; thinks he died early. Jesse, the other brother, had three children--Martha, Waterman and Ansel. One of them (Ansel) lives somewhere in New York State--Waterman at Broadbrook, 16 miles west. I could learn nothing back of Joshua M. Woodworth. I have the names of one or two who have moved away that might know, but I hardly think it can be traced beyond him. I went to the Town Clerk and looked over the old records and find some curious and interesting things. I find Spencer Woodworth's and Amanda Clark's marriage Nov. 25th, 1808; then follow the children--Harriet Amenda, born Sept. 10, 1809; Lucy Clark, Nov. 14th, 1810; John Spencer, Sept. 25th, 1813, and there it stops. I find that Chauncey Booth, a minister, figures very largely in marrying people, page after page entered in his hand writing. He must have been a little younger than grandfather Woodworth for his name runs down to 1840. I find that Harry Woodworth, your uncle, was born June, 1797. I find that Spencer Woodworth, Shubal Whittemore, Ira Lillie and Ansel Looming were chosen tything men for the year ending Dec., 1807. But there were Woodworths there before Joshua M., for I find it entered that Anne Woodworth, daughter of Joseph W., was born Nov. 6, 1756. I find this entry also: "Dec. ye 1726; desired by Mr. Rigo to appraise a steer coming two years old, brindled, cropt on ye right eare, two slits on ye fore; priced at thirty shillings." Josiah Colburn, Ichabod Woodworth. Now, who Ichabod was, mentioned in 1726, and who Anna was in 1756, and her father, Joseph, I can't find out. There was a Simeon Woodworth there in later years--1825 to 1840--who had sons and daughters, but was no relation to the tribe of Joshua. It is a curious study and if I had had more time I might have found out more. I saw and talked with an old man who had the church register. I find that Spencer Woodworth was collector and paid the amount on Sept. 22, 1817, of $254.52 in full. I find that William Woodworth and Mary Knox were married by Chauncey Booth Oct. 11, 1831. The man who keeps the cemetery, C. W. Jacobs, I will write to. He might find something on the gravestones.

"There are twenty or thirty Woodworths in Boston. Some of them may know of the earlier history, but the family is over two hundred years old in this country, and as they multiply it becomes more and more difficult. Joshua must have had a lot of brothers and his father likewise, and in those early days when they scattered, they never knew more about each other afterwards. I saw a Charles B. Woodworth at the American Mfg. Co., Chicopee Falls, Mass., who gave me the name of his grandfather who lived in Coventry. His name was Jasper, born about 1784. He might have been a brother of Joshua M. Woodworth."

 The following letter received from John A. by George W. (2321212) contains an interesting account of the Nova Scotia branch of the family:

Grand Pre, N. S., Nov. 8th, 1880.

George W. Woodworth, Esq., St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir: Some time since I received a letter from you asking for information of the Woodworth family. I have to apologize for not having answered it more promptly, and can only plead press of business at the time of the receipt of it and it slipped from my memory since. I should probably have been more prompt if I had had anything to send you more than you already possess, as my brother, E. W., of Kentville, enclosed me a similar letter to the one you sent me some time before, and I understood from him that he sent you a copy of the only record of our family that I know of. It was, if you remember, the New Lebanon branch, my great-grandfather, Joseph, coming to Grand Pre (Horton) about the year 1760 or '61. The townships of Horton and Cornwallis were granted about that time to two hundred families from New England, chiefly from Connecticut and Massachusetts, and a few from Rhode Island, and most of them entered in and took possession of the rich dyked lands reclaimed from the sea by the French Acadians, who were expelled some twelve years before. At that time came two, if not three, families of Woodworths, not claiming any kinship, although I have been told by some of the older men that the tradition was that only two brothers of the name came to New England and from them spring the families claiming American descent. These were New England Loyalists of the name settled on the St. John River in New Brunswick. All of the Woodworths I have ever heard of, with but one exception, were descended from the New England families; that exception is a policeman in Frederickton, N. B., and he was formerly an English soldier. I am probably writing you about what you are much better acquainted with than I and what would be of little use to you in the work you have undertaken, and in which I wish you every success. If I can be of any service to you I should be most happy. If I knew to whom you have written in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, I would know better than if I could be of any assistance; also if you want a record of all families to date. Perhaps a few words about the families I know something about might be interesting to you, if not useful. There seem to be points of resemblance in the families here that would warrant the supposition of having sprung from a common ancestry; for instance, they are mostly a large race of men, not extraordinary, but well grown, from five feet ten to six feet. Not seeking after notoriety and undemonstrative enough to have descended from one of Cromwell's Ironsides. There has always been for the last hundred years one of the name land surveyor; most of the name have been farmers, with a few mechanics, and not a few in the learned professions. One lawyer, a politician, Douglas B. or "Dug," has given the name a greater notoriety throughout Canada than it has had since Samuel, of Scituate, wrote the "Old Oaken Bucket." He is at present in Manitoba, where he is a candidate for the local house, he having been beaten in this, his own county, last election. His brother, George W. Woodworth, a namesake of your own, runs a local paper in Kentville. This is a different branch of the family from ours, although the same given names are common--Benjamin and Joseph, Rebecca, Sarah and Mary, etc. I think it time I closed this screed, as you are probably thinking that in sending me your circular you did nothing to provoke a judgment like this, but if you think so you had better not say so for I stand six feet in my stockings and weigh two hundred and thirty pounds, and thanks to the above mentioned "Dug," the name has a fighting notoriety in this county that is in itself a protection. Again expressing my willingness to assist you in any way you may point out I remain,

Yours,

JOHN A. WOODWORTH.

- 233333 JOHN WM., b Nov. 5, 1816, m Jane Caldwell June 14, 1846, d July 24, 1846.
- 2334 AMASA, b Lebanon, Ct., April 4, 1727; went to Nova Scotia in 1760 with his brother, Joseph, and bought lands in Cornwallis. He afterwards returned to Connecticut and then moved to Vermont, after which I find no trace of him, except that he m Sarah (???), and had one child-- Israel, d June 8, 1769, at Cornwallis, aged 1 1/2 years.
- 2335 JOHN, b Lebanon, Ct., Jan. 24, 1735.
- 234 AMOS, m Ellie Mathews Oct. 3, 1723. Both are mentioned in Richard Newcomb's store book, 1735 to 1738, and his name also appears in a rate bill of Columbia Church, in 1741.
- 235 EZEKIEL, mentioned in the Lebanon records as one of the petitioners for a new church at Lebanon Crank. In 1723 he is the grantee of land from his father, Benjamin. In 1729 he is grantor of land to his brother, Ichabod. His name appears on Richard Newcomb's store book. He is mentioned in a rate bill of Columbia Church in 1741. He may be the Ezekiel who married Lydia Simmons, Nov. 14, 1723.
- 236 CALEB, probably baptized in 1704, as the name then appears on the church records of Lebanon; is mentioned in Newcomb's store book, 1735 to 1738; is grantee of land from his brother, Ebenezer, in 1735. After 1738 there is no trace of Caleb in Lebanon during his life. He probably moved with his sister, Judith, wife of Thomas Newcomb, to Salisbury, Ct., for in the town records there appears in 1739 a deed from Thomas Newcomb to Caleb Woodworth of 100 acres of land "of a division to be laid out hereafter." In 1753 he was appointed surveyor of roads at Salisbury. In 1764 there appears a certificate to the effect that Caleb attended the Baptist meeting in the "oblong" and contributed to its support. It appears also from the records there that his wife's name was Jane and that they had three children, one of whom, at least, was born in Salisbury--

- 1 Caleb.
- 2 Cyremus.
- 3 Solomon, at Salisbury May 4, 1748.

(For further account see page

From the probate records at Norwich, it appears that a Caleb died in 1776, leaving an estate of £76, which was divided among his widow, (whose name is not mentioned), and his heirs, presumably his children, as follows:

- 1 Asa 3d, b 1744.
Sarah.
Ruth.
Hannah.
- 2 Simeon.
- 3 Jasper.
- 4 Charles.
- 5 Amos.

Eunice, m Mr. Inglis Nov. 20, 1786; admitted to old Norwich Church, 1822.

- 2361 ASA, b 1744, known as Asa 3d. He m Elizabeth Kingsley July 23, 1767, and with his wife was admitted to the old Norwich Church by letter in 1772. He died Feb. 22, 1813, and was buried in the old church yard at Norwich Town, by the side of his son, Dyer. He left a will dated June 30, 1812, in which he mentions his wife Elizabeth and his children, Enos, Eunice, Asa and Hannah. The other Asas in the neighborhood and mentioned in this record as 522 and 563. Children were:
- 1 Dyar, b Oct. 16, 1768, d June 2, 1783.
 - 2 Enos, bap. April 30, 1771.

 - 4 Gurdon, bap. May 12, 1776, d young.
- Eunice, bap. Oct. 31, 1772, d 1843.
Hannah, bap. July 10, 1785.
Elizabeth, widow of ASA, d 1835, aged 92.
- 2363 JASPER. There is a gravestone in Columbia burying ground in memory of Jasper, who d Sept. 6, 1811. He m Polly Lathrop and had one son, Charles, b at Bozrah, a carpenter, who moved West.

George H. Woodworth, of 731 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. traces his ancestry back to a JASPER, of Norwich, whose wife's name, he says, was Clara. I find mention of only one Jasper in the records of Norwich and vicinity and it is therefore quite probable that JASPER 2363 is the ancestor of the following family:

- 23631 CALEB, son of Jasper, m Margaret Freeman March 12, 1799. He was a cobbler and lived at Norwich, Ct. Children:

- 2365 AMOS. This may be the ancestor of the following family, but I have no certain information about it; yet from a number of facts and coincidences I am led to infer that Amos, son of Caleb, and Amos, father of Uriah and others, are the same person. AMOS, b in Connecticut, probably prior to 1750, m Eunice Newland. AMOS was a Revolutionary soldier. He was by trade a cooper and farmer. He moved early in life to Stillwater, N. 24 ISAAC, b Little Compton, R. I., 1676. He may have moved to Lebanon, for in the Clerk's office at Lebanon there is a record of a deed in 1707 from Benjamin to his "brother Isaac" and he may have had children born then. Children--

1 David, b 1697.

Grace, b 1699.

- 241 DAVID, b at Little Compton 1697, baptized Nov. 3, 1700. He may have been the David whom I have hereafter classed as the son of Isaac, of Norwich, son of Walter, Sr., but the probability is that the David of Norwich was the son of Isaac of Norwich.
- 25 THOMAS, b at Little Compton, R. I., 1680. Children--
 Harriet, b March 5, 1712.
 Hannah, b March 5, 1712.
 Lydia, b Oct. 11, 1717.
 Rachel, b March 27, 1720.
 1 Thomas, b Aug. 11, 1723.
- 3 THOMAS, son of Walter, Sr., of Scituate, was appointed by the Court in 1665 "to tend the wolf traps and baite them, the town to allow him 10s for the yeare, besides pay for the wolves killed;" was appointed Clerk of the Market in 1690 and held the office till 1711. In 1712 he was made Sealer of Weights and Measures. He kept a trader's shop 60 rods south of Stockbridge's Mill. In 1676 Scituate was sacked and plundered by the Narragansett Indians under Canonchet, and many of its houses were burned, among which was the home of THOMAS. His loss was £40. Dean says that THOMAS bought lands in Little Compton, R. I., in 1674, and some of his children may have moved there after the fire. He married Feb. 8, 1666, Deborah Damon. Children--
 Deborah, b Jan. 2, 1667, d 1710, left will probated March, 1718.
 1 Hezekiah, b Feb. 5, 1670, so say Scituate records, spelled Ezekiah.
 Katherine, b Oct. 5, 1673, so say Scituate records.
 Ebenezer, b May 25, 1676, d young.
 Mary, b July 8, 1678, m Stephen Vinal, Jr.
 2 John, b Aug. 31, 1683, Scituate records.
 Hannah, b Sept. 7, 1685, Scituate records.
 Jerusha, b Dec. 1, 1688, Scituate records.
 3 Ebenezer, b Aug. 10, 1690, Scituate records.
- 31 HEZEKIAH, b Feb. 5, 1670. The name of his wife is not known. Dean says he married Hannah Clap, but for reasons heretofore stated, it is probable that the Hezekiah who married Hannah Clap was the son of Walter and not of Thomas. Dean also says that Hezekiah's son, Ezekiel, of Lebanon, married Lydia Simmons, of Scituate, in 1723. Hezekiah of Walter had no son so far as we know; so that if Ezekiel was the son of Hezekiah it must have been Hezekiah 31. Dean, however, may have been mistaken and Ezekiel may have been the son of Benjamin (22), but there are circumstances which go to substantiate Dean's statement. That Ezekiel, whoever he was, had a son, Benjamin, who settled in Nova Scotia is confirmed by the reports received from the Nova Scotia families who trace their descent from Ezekiel. That Ezekiel had a brother Benjamin, father of Peleg, and ancestor of a large family in the United States, seems to be established by the testimony of many members of that family. Mr. James S. Woodworth, of Worcester, Mass., writes that his ancestor, Benjamin, "with his brother Ezekiel" settled in Lebanon about 1710, and that Ezekiel's son Benjamin "went to Nova Scotia." Other letters corroborate this statement. Ezekiel and Benjamin, therefore, were brothers. But Benjamin, the brother of Ezekiel, 225, is the ancestor of another family and could not be the father of Peleg, because Peleg was born Oct. 21, 1730, and by reference to the family of Benjamin (23) it would have been a physical improbability for him to have come in between Benjamin, b June 8, 1729, and Desire, b Jan. 10, 1731. These brothers therefore belonged to a different family from Benjamin (23) and there is good reason for believing Dean's statement that Ezekiel was the son of Hezekiah and on the testimony of Jas. S. Woodworth and others we must give to Ezekiel a brother, Benjamin, and, therefore, to Hezekiah a son, Benjamin. Thus the Benjamin branch is supplied with an ancestor which would not be possible if Ezekiel were taken to be the son of Benjamin 22. While this disposition of the family is not entirely satisfactory it has at least the merit of tallying better than any other with known facts. Children--

- 1 Ezekiel.
- 2 Benjamin.

- 311 EZEKIEL, m Lydia Simmons, of Scituate, Nov. 14, 1723. (See Dean's History of Scituate.) The only child I have discovered is:
- 1 Benjamin, b May 31, 1730.
- And perhaps Wililam and Thomas.
- 3111 BENJAMIN, b May 31, 1730 in Connecticut, m Hannah Bill, moved to Cornwallis, N. S., about 1760. His name occurs among the original grantees of land from King George; d July 25, 1766. Children--
- 1 Shelometh, b March 5, 1760.
 - 2 Benjamin.

- 31111 SHELOMETH, b March 5, 1760, settled in Lower Stiwick, Colchester, N. S., m Elizabeth Blair Sept. 19, 1793. He was a farmer and lived to the good old age of 90 years, dying May 19, 1850, "in strong faith in his Saviour." His wife d Oct. 5, 1848. Children--
 Hannah, b Nov. 28, 1796, m Elijah Bill, farmer, Stiwick, N. S.

The following letter written by Mr. W. G. Woodworth, of Centreville, Mich., 91 years of age, was sent to me by Mr. D. A. Woodworth, of Fort Wayne, in 1876:

Centreville, St. Joseph Co., Mich.

Hon. W. A. Woodworth,

My Dear Sir:

Sometime since I received a letter from D. A. Woodworth (enclosing one from you, making enquiries in regard to his pedigree line of the Woodworths) and requesting me to answer it. Rheumatism in my hands and arms has disabled me for months to use the pen and can now only use the pencil--this must be my excuse.

D. A. Woodworth's "great" great grandfather and my own grandfather was the same person--"Gershom Woodworth."-- His oldest son was named Gershom Everts Woodworth. He named his second son Ira whose son was named Ira Bela; his son was named Doras Augustus. Gershom Woodworth, D. A. W.'s great great grandfather had as brothers and sisters--I speak of no one but those whom I have seen--(I cannot give their ages)--William, Amos, Benjamin, Abraham, Selah, Cyrenius, (he lived in Connecticut) and Solomon, who was a captain and killed in the Indian war of "'56," I never saw. "Gershom" also had three sisters--Freelove married a Canfield, the other two I never saw, and have forgotten who they married. My name is William G., the son of William G., who was the second son of Gershom. My information as handed down to me may differ from yours. It is this: Some three after the first landing of the Mayflower at Plymouth Rock, two Woodworths came from England and landed and settled at or near the same place with their families--about ten years after their youngest brother and wife came over and settled near them; his name was Walter--afterwards he moved to the Province of Connecticut, and built the first log house in the province. D. A. W.'s direct line is not from Walter, but from Benjamin, his elder brother.

Very respectfully, your friend,

W. G. WOODWORTH.

Solomon Woodworth, the son of Amos Woodworth, is described in Stone's Life of Brant, pages 68 and 69:

Among the prisoners taken by the Tories who two years before had returned from Canada after their families, and who had most unaccountably been suffered to depart unmolested, was a very brave fellow by the name of Solomon Woodworth. He was intrusted to a party of Indians acting in concert with the Tories on their arrival at the Sacondaga, from whom he effected his escape on the following day. These Indians, it appears, mortified at his successful flight, had resolved either upon his recapture or his destruction. Woodworth, in the winter or spring of 1780, was occupying alone a block house situated about eight miles north of Johnstown. While thus solitary his castle was attacked in the dead of night by a small party of Indians, who set fire to it. Regardless of danger, however, he ran out amidst a shower of bullets, extinguished the fire, and retreated within the walls again before the Indians, who had withdrawn some distance from the block house could re-approach sufficiently near to seize him. As the night was not very dark. Woodworth saw a group of the savages through the port holes upon whom he fired not without effect, one of their number as it subsequently appeared, being severely wounded. This disaster caused the Indians to retire. But Woodworth was not satisfied. Collecting half a dozen kindred spirits, the next morning, he gave chase to the intruders and, after following their trail three days, overtook them--they having halted to dress the wound of their companion. The pursuers came so suddenly upon them, as to succeed in dispatching the whole number without allowing them time to offer resistance. The little band returned to Johnstown in triumph; and their leader was immediately commissioned a lieutenant in a regiment of nine-months men, in which service he had again an opportunity of showing his prowess, as will be seen hereafter."

(Pages 163 and 164 same book). "The name Solomon Woodworth has twice or thrice occurred in the preceding pages; once as having been taken a prisoner and making his escape, and again as alone defending a block house north of Johnstown and repulsing the enemy from his fortress, In the year, 1871, he was commissioned a captain, for the purpose of raising a company of rangers to traverse the wooded country north of Fort Dayton and the German Flats. He succeeded in enlisting a company of forty brave and kindred spirits; at the head of whom, well armed and provided, he marched from Fort Dayton, striking in the direction of the Royal Grant for purposes of observation. After a few hours march one of Woodworth's men, being a short distance in advance, discovered an Indian, evidently in ambuscade, upon whom he immediately fired. Instantly the forest resounded with the war-whoop and Woodworth with his little band was surrounded by double his own number. A furious and bloody engagement followed in which the Rangers and Indians fought hand to hand with great desperation; and for the numbers engaged there was cruel slaughter. A fiercer engagement probably did not occur during the war. Woodworth fell dead. The savages were the victors; and of the Rangers only fifteen escaped to tell the melancholy fate of their comrades. Several were taken captive and subsequently exchanged.

from the church and town records of Lebanon, that we are indebted for much of this history.

- 4121 BENJAMIN, his name appears on the records of Columbia Church, together with his father and sisters, first in 1740. There is a record in this church of the marriage of a Benjamin to Katherine Sheids, June 18, 1756, but I find no further trace of him or his descendants.

- 42 BENJAMIN, b at Scituate, Aug., 1676. No further trace.
- 5 ISAAC, son of WALTER SR. Isaac is not named in Dean's History as a son of Walter, but the fact is mentioned that in 1697 there was a considerable removal from Scituate to Norwich, Ct., and among those thus removing was Isaac Woodworth, who, in company with others, purchased lands there. Isaac's name appears in Calkin's History of Norwich. "He was admitted as a freeman by vote of the inhabitants in 1705." Isaac was not so thoroughly impregnated with Puritan ideas as have characterized the family generally; for, among the Scituate records, we find that he was fined £1 for "playing at cards two several times." This fine, however, seems to have checked the spirit of lawlessness, and whatever deviltry transmitted by Isaac to his descendants, has cropped out has been turned into some useful purpose. He died April 1, 1714, leaving a wife, Lydia, and nine children between the ages of 8 and 27. From incidental records in and about Norwich I gather the names of the following children:
- 1 Moses, b about 1687.
 - 2 Isaac, b about 1690.
 - 3 Daniel.
 - 4 David.
 - 5 Joshua.
 - 6 Stephen.
- 51 MOSES, b about 1687 at Norwich, Ct. Administered on his father's estate in 1714; was admitted as a freeman in 1719. Norwich, especially the region around Waurekus Hill, was at the time, infested with rattlesnakes, and a bounty of 4d per skin was offered for their capture. In 1720, Moses killed 28 and in 1721 his mother presented the spoils of 23. The other brothers were even more successful. Moses m Mehitable Gay, May 21, 1729. In the Lebanon records I find a deed from Moses of Norwich dated Nov. 4, 1714, by which, in consideration at £8, he conveys to Benjamin of Lebanon, 5 acres of land at Little Compton, "being 1/3 part of a lot of 15 acres originally Walter Woodworth's." He died Sept. 19, 1746, leaving a will by which he bequeathed his property, amounting to about £1000, to his children--

- 52211 SIMEON, bap. April 3, 1791, at Norwich Church, m Phebe (???), who was admitted to Norwich Church in 1809.
 I find in the records of South Coventry, Conn., an entry of the births of three children of Simeon and Maria Woodworth. The name of Simeon's wife in the Norwich records is uncertain, the surname at least being unknown to the recorder, and he may also have been mistaken as to the given name, "Phebe." The recurrence of the name "Lord" which was the name of Simeon's (of Norwich) mother, makes it appear quite likely that Simeon of Norwich moved to Coventry, and was the father of the following children--

There was a WILLIAM WOODWORTH, of Hudson, Columbia Co., N. Y., the inventor of the Woodworth Cylinder Planing Machine, one of the most important inventions of the century. Mr.

Artemas B. Woodworth, of Lowell, Mass., who is in the lumber business, says of it: "His invention wrought a great revolution in the mechanical world, doing more than any other probably to develop the great industries dependent on lumber, which I think rates third on the list of all the great material interests of the country; and judging its utility to mankind by its results, which it may be granted are of less magnitude than those achieved by Watt, Fulton, Stephenson and Morse, are nevertheless of such vast proportions as to entitle the originator of the cylinder planing machine to a position in the front rank of the great inventors of the age." WILLIAM obtained his patent from the Government Dec. 27, 1828. There was a great deal of litigation over it and his rights as patentee were not fully established until after his death. For further particulars regarding this litigation, see 4 Howard's U. S. Supreme Court Reports, p 646. JABEZ (22316) moved from Dorchester, N. H., to Essex Co., Vt., with one or two of his brothers, and there reared a large family from whom probably many of the Vermont families have sprung, though it has not been possible as yet to trace the connections.

From the town records of Salisbury, Conn., I extract the following items:

In 1739 Caleb Woodworth purchased from Thomas Newcomb 100 acres of land in Salisbury. In 1758 Caleb is appointed Surveyor of Roads, and in 1764 there is filed a certificate showing that he contributed to the Baptist Church at Oblong. It appears that his wife's name was Jane and that he had three sons, one of whom at least was born at Salisbury. There may have been other children, some perhaps born in Lebanon. The following are the only children of which we have at present any knowledge--

- 1 Caleb.
- 2 Cyrenus.
- 3 Solomon, b May 4, 1748.

- 1 CALEB probably moved to Montgomery Co., where he was a delegate to the General Convention held there in 1801.

I also find the following family mentioned in the Salisbury records:

Ephraim whose wife's name was Anna had the following children
 b at Salisbury--

Anna, b Mar. 30, 1755, d April 12, 1755.

1 Ephraim, b March, (???).

Jerusha, b April 17, 1758.

I have received from Mr. D. B. Child, of 7 East 77th St., N. Y., a continuation of the account of Ephraim's descendants.

CAPTAIN EPHRAIM WOODWORTH was born about 1732 at Connecticut. Ancestors and nativity unknown. Among his brothers is supposed to be one WILLIAM, who lived in 1776 in the Charlotte Precinct of Dutchess Co., N. Y. Judge Gibson, of Salem, is a descendant of this line. Another brother is thought to have been Robert, of Schodack, below Albany, father of the distinguished Judge, John Woodworth, b 1768, d 1858. Capt. Ephraim Woodworth in about the year 1854 married ANNA MOORE, daughter of Jonathan Moore, of Salisbury, formerly of Simsbury, Conn., and HANNAH LONG, daughter of Thomas Long, of Hartford Ct. Anna Moore's sister, Abigail Moore, m Philip Spencer (1751) and they became the mother and father of Hon. Ambrose Spencer (b 1788). Judge Ambrose Spencer was the brother-in-law of Gov. DeWitt Clinton and Capt. Ephraim Woodworth was the uncle of Judge Ambrose Spencer.

Anna Moore's mother, Hannah Long, was daughter of Thomas Long, who married Sarah Wilcox, daughter and only child of John Wilcox, of Hartford, and afterwards of Middletown by his first wife, Sarah Wadsworth, the daughter of William Wadsworth, Esq., one of the first settlers of Harford. Ancestor of the Rev. Daniel Wadsworth, of Hartford, and Col. Jeremiah and Daniel Wadsworth, Gen. William Wadsworth and Hon. James Wadsworth, of Genesee, N. Y., and of a long line of distinguished men of this name.

See "Goodwin's Genealogical Notes of First Settlers of Conn. and Mass.," pp. 310-320, and "Phelp's History of Simsbury, Ct." 171, for accounts of the Spencer, Moore, Long and Wadsworth families.

Of Capt. Ephraim and Anna Moore Woodworth's children there were--

Anna, b Salisbury, Ct., March 30, 1755, d April 12, 1755.

Ephraim, Jr., b at Salisbury, Ct., April 2, 1756, m Delight Rowley, d March 5, 1838, at Bemis Heights, Saratoga Co., N. Y.; a Revolutionary soldier.

Jerusha, b April 17, 1758, at Salisbury, Ct., m (???) Hart.

Reuben, a Revoultionary soldier and Major in War of 1812, 41st Regiment.

Isaac.

James.

Mary, b Feb. 2, 1771, m Dr. Ephraim Child Jan. 1, 1796 (see infra).

Anna, who m Noadiah Moody, a Captain in the Revolution also.

Charlotte, m (???) Hart.

Capt. Ephraim Woodworth, before the Revolution, removed with his family to the town of Stillwater, Saratoga Co., N. Y., and was a man of considerable affluence and prominence. He became Capt.

of the Fourth Co., 13th Regiment, N. Y. Militia, under Col. John McCrea, and fought through the battles at Saratoga and the war. His sons, Ephraim, Jr., and Reuben, also Amos Woodworth were in his company.

See N. Y. State Archives, 271. His house was the headquarters of Gen. Gates. He was a farmer and a weaver, and the hospital of the battle was his shop.

See Sylvester's History of Saratoga Co., pp 90, 289, 306 for interesting account. He d 1825 at Northumberland (next town to Stillwater), Saratoga Co., N. Y.; left will dated Oct. 8, 1818, Bk. Wills, 6, p. 396.

MARY MOORE WOODWORTH, youngest child and daughter of Capt. Ephraim and Anna Moore Woodworth, was born Feb. 2, 1781, at Stillwater, N. Y., and d at Syracuse, N. Y., July 18, 1843. She m Jan. 1, 1796, Dr. Ephraim Child, of Stillwater, N. Y., son of Capt. Increase Child, of Woodstock, Ct.; Capt. in the Revolution and a soldier under Gen. Putnam in the French and English wars of 1755-8, and a lineal descendant of Ephraim and Benjamin Child, who emigrated to this country in 1630 with Gov Winthrop and settled at Roxbury, Mass. Dr. Child was surgeon of the 41st Regiment, War of 1812, and one of the founders of the Saratoga County Medical Society, and d June 10th, 1830, at Stillwater. They had ten children, among them Orville Woodworth Childs, the eminent engineer.

Noadiah Moody Childs, a prominent citizen of Syracuse, N. Y., father of Daniel Brewer Childs

See Child's Genealogy, pp 117, 119, 125.

The next three items from the Salisbury records are interesting from the similarity of names to those mentioned by Dorris A. Woodworth and the venerable W. G., on page 62 as belonging to their ancestors. It is quite likely that the family of Dorris A. came from Salisbury and is related to Ephraim and perhaps Caleb.

Gershom Woodworth m Roxanna Everts Nov. 24, 1749. They may be the parents of Gershom Everts.

Selah Woodworth m Rebeccah Dunham, of Sheffield.

Freelove m Jesse Chatfield Oct. 18, 1756. Wm. G. says Freelove m a Canfield. These names are near enough alike to allow for a lapse of memory on the part of our aged contributor.

Other names on Salisbury records are:
